tention of four government departments today, were:

The British admiralty and the French ministry of marine are co-operating with this government in its investigation.

The state department has accepted the theory that "foul play" may account for the disappearance of the twelve men in the Deering.

HOOPER ORDERS SEARCH FOR WILLIAM O'BRIEN.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The state department today ordered a search for William O'Brien, who was reported to have been on board the schooner Deering when it disappeared.

Richey, investigator for Secretary Hoover and the William O'Brien was lost two months, apparently about 700 miles off. He is here searching for shipping records for any information regarding the lost vessels.

Richey said the William O'Brien started on one of the foreign trips put back following a dispute between the captain and chief engineer. With a new engineer, she began another trip from which she never returned.

The grim side of the mystery was revealed by Richey, who said he is going to Cape Hatteras to investigate a report that several bodies have been washed ashore there. He believed it possible that the bodies were those of sailors from some of the lost vessels.

STORY OF DISAPPEARANCE OF ALBYAN AND YUTE.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The latest sea mysteries concern the British tramp steamer Albyan and the Russian bark Yute. They were last heard from in November in the vicinity where the Hewitt disappeared and the schooner Deering was found abandoned.

The disappearance of the Albyan and the Yute was disclosed today by the department of commerce.

Information which reached officials here that at least one foreign ship was reported attacked by men in a launch while lying in the harbor of Newport News.

Chicago Women Plan Band, Biggest Ever

CHICAGO, June 21.—Chicago is to have the biggest woman's band in the country, according to announcement today. Women prominent in society and club life are behind the movement. John S. Greenwalt, engaged for the organization work, declared the band would consist of 250 pieces.

The band will have 250 pieces, 100 pieces to field music, forty drummers and sixty buglers—four heralds and a drum major. A distinctive uniform will be worn. The organization is purely civic in spirit.

Greenwalt said he hoped to have scores of musically inclined women join the association. The movement was started by the Illinois Woman's Athletic Club.

Woman, 75, Slain By Man Riding Bicycle

LOS ANGELES, June 21.—Mrs. Sandra Cannella, 75, was shot and killed last night as she sat on the porch of her home in a suburban section by a young man who rode up to the house on a bicycle and escaped after the shooting, according to the story told by the police to neighbors.

Mrs. Cannella's husband, Angelino Cannella, who was inside the house, said he heard the man talking to his wife, then six shots rang out. Five bullets lodged in Mrs. Cannella's body and she died instantly. Cannella said he had no idea of the motive for the slaying.

Mystery Recalls Strange Case of Mary Celeste

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The Cape Hatteras ship mystery today recalled here the strange case of the Mary Celeste.

In 1872, the sailing vessel was discovered in mid-ocean with all sails set. The captain's table was set for dinner. In the crew's quarters a deck of cards lay strewn on a table. The toys of the captain's son lay about the cabin.

What became of those on board has never been explained.

SPRING VALLEY CO. PLEADS FOR INCREASED RATE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—The Spring Valley Water Company's application for an increase in rates was heard before the Railroad Commission here today. Following the failure of the voters of San Francisco to purchase the Spring Valley properties, the corporation petitioned the commission to be allowed to advance its charges on the ground that it was to continue serving the people of San Francisco.

Manuel P. Eastman, vice-president and general manager, testified that it would be necessary for the company to expend approximately $11,500,000 in various important projects, the raising of the Calaveras dam, the building of a conduit around the bay between Milpitas and Mountain View, and the establishment of conduits for the delivering of water to the San Andreas reservoir.

Mention was made of the fact that San Francisco, in bringing in the Hetch Hetchy supply, would be building conduits around the bay, and that as this was the most expensive feature of the construction work, Eastman said that many millions could be saved if his company was allowed to use the utilities of the city.

EXPERT IS GRILLED BY CITY'S ATTORNEYS.

However, under rapid and heated cross-examination, Adams was unprepared to answer any of the questions propounded and in a large majority of the questions gave indefinite answers or referred the questions to the records of the company in San Francisco.

In beginning cross-examination of Adams for the city, Leon Gray, assistant city attorney, remarked that it was considerable of the Southern Pacific company to operate the East-bay system as a convenience, but it was rather strange, he said, that the company in view of such existing conditions, had in the past struggled to entrench itself in the entire county.

Answering Attorney Foulds Theodore Wittchen declared that Adams and Robert Adams and C. A. Veale, assistant trainmaster for Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda, proved that the losses resulted from "inefficient operation." Veale testified at the morning hearing.

METHODS OF COMPUTING COSTS ARE TOLD.

When Wittchen asked what was meant by "car capacity," whether it meant seating capacity alone or both seating and standing room, Veale replied that it meant as many people as the car would hold, either standing or sitting. On this condition he based the monthly computations of the company, he said. Veale denied that the company counted capacity according to the number of fares paid, either for short or long trips, but based all statistics on cost of operating the particular line on the capacity loads.

The council chambers were filled with attorneys for the city and county, railroad representatives and civic and commercial organizations from Oakland and Alameda. The following people appeared for the city of Oakland and Alameda county: Leon Gray, assistant city attorney; for Oakland, W. J. Locke, Alameda City Attorney; for Alameda, J. Ellis Breunert, City Attorney; for San Leandro, George Mattis, superintendent of streets for Oakland; Deputy District Attorneys Theodore Wittchen and Ralph Hoyt appearing for Alameda county; Eugene Bowles, Joseph H. King, president, and Joseph E. Caine, managing director of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce; B. W. Hollingsworth, traffic expert representing the Oakland Chamber of Commerce; George Sheldon of the Up-Town Association, and others.

Following a discussion at the morning hearing after Attorney Foulds had asked for a ninety-day continuance through a personal letter from William Sproule, president of the road, Commissioner Martin ordered the hearing to proceed. It was continued again at 10 o'clock this morning in the city hall, for the examination of witnesses for the city and county.

of the company. He said, however, that discontinuance of passenger service over the bridge would result ultimately in complete abandonment of the structure.

In an attempt to prove that the Southern Pacific's electric system in the Eastbay district operated at a heavy loss annually, Foulds placed Robert Adams, assistant auditor for the western division, on the stand. Adams was on the stand for three hours facing a battery of attorneys representing the city and county, who grilled him for two hours and a half.

In reply, Foulds said that he was Adams declared that the electric system of the Southern Pacific in the Eastbay region operated last year at a loss of $768,000, in which was represented, he testified, part of the loss from the crossing in lines running from Fourteenth and Franklin to Alameda and the inter-urban lines running from the Fourteenth-street station to the Alameda and center "Little Phil" Alquist, slayer of Detective Sergeant John J. Fitzgerald.

Every room in every house was entered and searched and the coronor of officers closed in from the boundaries to the center of the district where Alquist is hiding, waiting to shoot it out with his two heavy caliber automatic pistols.

Scores of citizens, attracted to the district by the sight of men armed with rifles and sawed-off shotguns, witnessed the man-hunt which was organized on orders of Mayor Snyder and Police Chief Pendergast.

Fitzgerald was killed Saturday night when with other officers he raided a bungalow believed to be the rendezvous of a gang of crooks.

NEW VOLSTED PROHIBITION BILL WILL BE KILLED

Committee Not to Permit Supplemental Measure to Be Rushed Through

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The House rules committee virtually has decided to kill the Volstead supplemental prohibition bill in its present form, Chairman Campbell, Kansas, said today.

The committee does not want to allow the measure as it is now written, to be rushed through Congress, and it won't," he told the House, in response to an attack made on the committee's action in delaying it to give representatives of the chemical and industrial alcohol industries a chance to present their opposition.

Congress should make the rich disgorge their huge private stock of liquor, Representative Pott, North Carolina, said today.

CUPID WILL SET NEWMARRIAGE PACE THIS YEAR

SACRAMENTO, June 21.—Cupid's record this year threatens to surpass all previous performances, even outdoing 1920 which was the banner marriage year in the state's history.

L. B. Ross, in charge of the bureau of vital statistics of the State Board of Health, announced today that the incomplete figures for the first four months show that Cupid is 413 marriages ahead of his record for the same period last year. Records thus far received by Ross for the four months reveal that 13,612 marriages were performed, compared with 13,199 for the same period in 1920. Ross said the figure will be increased by about 250 when all returns are in. California began its record setting pace in matrimony in 1919 when the soldiers began to return from France and the training camps. In 1920 all records were broken with 46,564 marriages performed and this year's pace is even faster.

BODY TAKEN FROM BAY IS IDENTIFIED; SUICIDE IS BELIEF

Foul Play Theory Is Discarded
After Examination; Man
Came From Arizona

A body, which was later identified by the coroner's office as that of Paul Roth, believed to have come here from Williams, Ariz., by way of Los Angeles, was found early today on the Oakland side of Government Island by Pat Heenan, a pilot-driver working on the island. Evidence, according to the coroner's office, points to suicide.

The body had apparently been in the water for a week or more. Blood issuing from the nostrils and ears, and bruises at the back of the head, thought at first to indicate foul play, were explained at the coroner's office by the fact that the body had been in the water for so long a time and had been washed about among the rocks.

Both wrists were found to be slashed, and the authorities declared it appeared to be a plain case of suicide. The body was identified by two bank books found in the pockets. One was on the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank of Los Angeles, showing a deposit of $40, and the other on the Arizona Central Bank of Williams, Ariz., showing deposits totaling $100. Several water-soaked letters were found in the pockets and they are being dried for identification by the coroner's office. A slip of paper with "A. P. B., No. 35, Williams, Arizona," apparently the number of a postoffice box, written on it, was also found. Below these figures was written "A. B. S. 138,446; P. M. W. 3319" and the name "Mrs. Ellen Davis." A watch, one dollar in change, a razor, an extra pair of socks and a few other articles were found in the pockets. The man is believed to have put the razor back in his pocket after slashing his wrists with it.

The man wore a black shirt, a black suit, black shoes and dark socks. He had sandy hair and a stubble mustache and was apparently about 40 years of age. The body had been washed up by the tide and was found lying in the mud.

Mrs. Helen Whatley of Denver Says She Was Abducted
In Solomon Islands

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—Blonde hair taken by uncivilized natives as an indication of rank, is believed by Mrs. Helen Whatley of Denver to have saved her life when she was taken prisoner by natives and carried away into the heart of a sandalwood forest in the mountainous region of one of the islands in the South seas. Mrs. Whatley was held for more than twelve hours and rescued by searchers led by her husband.

Mrs. Whatley and her husband arrived yesterday from a tour of Australia, New Zealand and other islands of the South seas, which lasted for thirteen months. While they were on the beach of one of the islands of the Solomon group, a band of grotesquely bearded natives swooped down on the party and with wild cries carried the woman off to a hut in the heart of the woods.

While the natives danced around Mrs. Whatley, jabbering angrily, one of them struck at her. In doing so the savage knocked off her hat and her hair, which became unfastened in the struggle, fell down about her shoulders.

Perceiving the blonde hair, the attitude of the natives immediately changed to one of reverence. From that time on, according to Mrs. Whatley, the natives were careful to do nothing to displease her. One, who appeared to be the leader, came up and touched her hair wonderingly, drawing back when the woman shrank from him. According to the signs of the natives they wanted to make the woman their ruler.

After some time a band of white men, headed by Mrs. Whatley's husband, came into sight. The natives seeing them began shrieking and ran for the woods, motioning for the woman to accompany them. When

The reading of the officers' reports occupied the entire morning and a good part of the afternoon. The reports of Grand Arch Druids Mary T. Becker show a gain of 987 members for the term.

The posse arrived Mrs. Whatley alone in the hut. Telling of her abduction today, Mrs. Whatley said: "I don't know what inspired the natives to carry me off, as we were told that there was no danger to white people."

My captors were big brawny fellows. After several hours I started to become apprehensive of being rescued, but in about another hour a large body of men were seen approaching. A wild scramble was made by my captors and seeming to be unconscious of my presence they beat a hasty retreat into the wilder region of the forest.

"Led by my husband, the searchers quickly reached me. We left the island shortly after to board the Tahiti."

Entire Villages Submerged by Floods in Japan

(By United Press)
TOKYO, June 21.—Terrific floods are sweeping large areas of Japan. Death lists today approached 200. Entire villages were submerged under 15 feet of water in the Ito district. At Kussha, more than 600 houses were washed away.

Heavy rains caused the floods. The district of Kussha was inundated so quickly that thousands had narrow escapes. At least 180 persons drowned there.

The flood quickly swept hundreds of highly constructed dwellings into the torrent, where they collapsed and were carried out to sea in a mass of debris. Bridges were torn out and swept away.

In the Ito district, the waters spread more slowly, filling the streets of villages, some to a depth of 25 feet. Three villages were known to be under water, their inhabitants taking to boats, some living precariously in trees and others clinging to roofs of cottages which threatened momentarily to leave their foundations. Near Fukeoka, a city of almost 100,000 persons, great damage was done.

MEXICO IS 'SICK'; 'MEDICINE' ASKED

Preparations to ship 100 barrels of whiskey from Oakland to Mexico for "medicinal purposes" were being made today. The liquor is being sent by Alex. May, 484 Chetwood street, and is consigned to Tijuana through Yonger and Son, brokers, at Battery and Washington streets, San Francisco. The shipment was to have been made Saturday but through some error in the withdrawal and transportation permits, its departure was postponed.

The exportation is being permitted by William A. Kelly, prohibition agent, who says all requirements were complied with and that although there is a chance the liquor may find its way back to San Francisco and Oakland, he is powerless to prevent it.

"I cannot assume that the liquor is going to be returned to the United States," he said, "when I do not know. Of course, all these shipments of liquor to Mexican border towns look suspicious, but as long as the exporter complies with regulations and swears the stuff is for non-beverage purposes, I can't hold it up. Mexico must be pretty sick the way they are shipping medical whiskey here."

Woman Presides in House of Congress

WASHINGTON, June 21.—For the first time, according to official records, a woman presided yesterday in the U. S. House of Representatives. Miss Alice Johnson, a Republican member from Oklahoma, occupying the chair about ten minutes.

She was greeted with applause and cheers when Representative Welsh, Republican, Massachusetts, who was presiding in the absence of Speaker Gillett, invited her to wield the gavel.

The roll was being called on a resolution providing creation of a commission to represent the United States at the Peruvian centennial celebration. Somewhat embarrassed but in a clear voice, Miss Johnson announced the vote and relinquished the chair.

Newman Hotel Man Fights Police Charge

NEWMAN, June 21.—Tony Cosal, local hotelman, charged with conducting a disorderly house, pleaded not guilty before Justice Rice of Modesto and was held in $500 bail to await a jury trial July 9.

The charge of pandering was dismissed. Josephine Saunders, living in the hotel, was permitted to give testimony. Instead of holding her in custody as a witness until the date of the trial.

AUTO GOES OVER BANK.

VISALIA, June 21.—Mrs. Mina M. Swinnerton of Los Angeles was instantly killed when her car, together with her aunt, Mrs. C. S. Merrill, and her aunt, Mrs. Mary P. Merrill, of the same city, were seriously injured yesterday when a car, which they were riding backed over a 200-foot embankment on Progress grade, at the entrance of the Sequoia National Park. Mrs. Swinnerton was driving the car. She stopped suddenly on the grade and started to roll back. Before Mrs. Swinnerton could control it the machine backed over the embankment. The Merrills are not expected to live.

WASHINGTON NOTES

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The Johnson bill to permit aliens who sailed on or before June 8, last, to land at American ports was passed yesterday by the House. The excess admitted over the June quota established under the percentage immigration law would be charged off against the later monthly quotas.

The bill was opposed by Representative Baker, California, and Representative Bunker, Texas, and the House members of the immigration committee. Baker declared 10,000,000 aliens were seeking admission to the United States, "where 5,000,000 men are out of work." He charged that steamship companies have violated the new immigration law by bringing aliens here by shiploads.

A constitutional amendment under which states and municipalities would be prohibited from appropriating funds to any religious denomination, organization or institution was introduced in the House. The amendment also would provide that no law should be passed respecting establishment of religion and its free exercise.

A puff on a cigarette may cost Washington women $25, if a bill introduced by Representative Johnson, Democrat, Mississippi, is enacted. The measure provides that women who smoke in "public places" shall be fined $25 for the first offense and $100 for the second. A similar schedule of fines is proposed for the proprietors of public places which the bill enumerates as dining rooms, cafes, theaters, elevators, street cars, and railway stations, who permit women to smoke on their premises.

The Senate started a race with the House to outlaw medical beer. Just after the House rules committee had concluded a long hearing on a proposal to give the Volstead anti-beer and general prohibition tightening measure right of way, Senator Willis, Republican, Ohio, introduced a special bill containing the beer and other uncontested sections of the Volstead bill, with the hope of having it passed before the prohibition commissioner promulgates medical beer regulations.

BOY KILLED IN MILL.
EUREKA, June 21.—A high school boy of Arcata, Joe Parlett, commenced work in the Korbel sawmill yesterday morning and was killed early in the afternoon when his clothing became caught by a revolving shaft. His right leg was broken, the left arm broken twice and his right arm three times, besides which there are said to have been internal injuries and possibly a fracture of the skull. He died fifteen minutes after reaching an Arcata hospital.

Here's Doughnut Recipe from Tribune Information Bureau

Doughnuts were the favorite topic in the TRIBUNE'S Information Bureau today. Here is one of the requests that came in:

Please give me a doughnut recipe similar to "Superior" doughnuts.

1 cup sugar, 2 1/2 tablespoons butter, 2 eggs, 2 cup milk, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon grated nutmeg, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, flour to roll. Cream the butter and add 1/2 sugar. Beat the eggs until light, add remaining sugar and combine mixtures. Add 3/4 cups flour, mixed and sifted with baking powder, salt and spices; then enough more flour to make dough stiff enough to roll. Toss 1/4 of mixture on floured board, knead slightly, pat and roll out to 1/4-inch thickness. Shape with a doughnut cutter, fry in deep fat, 2 minutes. Drain on brown paper. Add trimmings to remaining mixture, roll, shape and fry as before. Repeat. Doughnuts should be quickly, to top of fat, brown on one side, then turned to brown on the other; avoid turning more than once. The fat must be kept at a uniform temperature. If too cold, doughnuts will absorb fat; if too hot, doughnuts will be brown before sufficiently risen.

The TRIBUNE'S Information Bureau will answer all questions of a general nature except school or legal problems, debates, trade and firm names and queries as to the time of day.

If answers are desired by mail stamps must be enclosed. Quick-test results can be obtained by telephone. If you have any problems of a general nature to solve "Ask The TRIBUNE" Information Bureau, Lakeside 5000.

DOG SAVES GIRL'S LIFE.

HICKMAN READY FOR BIG EVENT

Art Hickman comes to town tomorrow as the central figure in the Art Hickman Ball to be staged at the Municipal Auditorium for the benefit of American relief in Ireland. Sharing his private box at the auditorium will be the famous (Fatty) Arbuckle. Another famous film personage will be Marshall Neilan. He also will be Hickman's guest. Then there will be Max and James Rolph, invited by the Jazz King, Chief of Police Daniel O'Brien of San Francisco, Mayor John L. Davis, Miss June Elvidge, vaudeville star, and other celebrities.

"I'm coming back to my home town," says Hickman. "You know Art was born in the Sixteenth street station of the Southern Pacific about 25 years ago. He was a student at the Lincoln grammar school and planted a tree in Lincoln park as a boy."

Hickman has prepared a program that will meet the approval of the thousands. He is going to give Eastbay folks an opportunity to hear some of his own compositions. Among these will be "June," the song he dedicated to June Elvidge. "When I Marry Mary Mine of Maryland," "Molly O" and "Dream of Me."

Decorators today are putting finishing touches to their work at the auditorium. The Art Hickman ball will be staged against a background of baroque splendor, reminiscent of the Arabian Nights. Gaily will act as ushers.

A feature of the evening will be the giving away of two automobiles. Then there will be the Queen of the Art Hickman Ball, who, with her attendants will rule over the dance pageantry. A special brass band picked by Hickman will furnish the dance music.

Tomorrow night will be Oakland's Dance Night. Hugh Hogan, chairman of the committee arranging the event, says he expects to hang out the "S. R. O." sign long before the dance is in full swing. "Better come early," is his advice. And so the Eastbay, on the tip-toe of expectancy, awaits the big night.

Enforced Expenditures to Increase Local Tax Rate

Because of enforced future expenditures voted for by the people and over which the supervisors have no control, Alameda county faces an almost certain increase in its tax rate for the year of 1921-22. It was pointed out today by county officials.

"Some of these increased expenditures mean better living conditions for many people and other aids to the people's welfare," said W. J. Hamilton, chairman of the board of supervisors, today, "but they cost money. Now cannot have improved conditions for the masses of the people without paying for it."

Three of the items voted for by the people of the legislature and for which the supervisors are forced to provide are the election on the consolidation of city and county; Amendment No. 16, providing for increased salaries for county school teachers and more state aid to these schools for general purposes, and the increase in salaries granted by the legislature to county employees.

CAUSES OF INCREASE.

The consolidation election, it is estimated will mean an added eight cents, or thereabouts. No one can tell, in the absence of detailed information from the various school districts, what the expenditure will be under Amendment 16, but it has been estimated that it will require from 8

Mexican Delegates Stand on Dignity

Supervisor Hamilton said the expenditures necessary for the new Highland hospital will require about 15 cents in the tax rate.

"Last year," he said, "we made no appropriation for the Highland work, but this year we appropriated $300,000. The institution's commission asked for $500,000 this year because of the absence of an appropriation last year, but this will not be granted. If we had insisted that the money for this great and needed enterprise be provided by bond issues the tax rate would have been reduced materially, but the people would be paying for it in the end."

ILLNESS DEPARTED WHEN HER TEETH WERE PUT IN ORDER

Mrs. E. Journey of Woodbridge, California, Recommended by Friend to Dr. Anderson for Dependable Dentistry.

"A woman, as a rule, is most sensitive about her teeth, but even so, she will often neglect them," says Dr. R. C. Anderson, eminent Oakland dentist with offices at 1236 Broadway. We have a case in point in that of Mrs. E. Journey, a resident of Woodbridge, California. Neglecting her teeth caused loss of weight, nervousness, headaches and finally resulted in an abnormal condition of her mouth, bordering on the dreaded disease—pyorrhea.

"Mrs. Journey was recommended to us by one of her friends who had found satisfaction in the Dr. Anderson method of dependable dentistry. The extractions caused her absolutely

FIRE DESTROYS BUSINESS PART OF MINING TOWN

Centerville, Famous Camp of Early Days, Is About Wiped Out

CHICO, June 21.—Fire of undetermined origin last night wiped out the business part of Centerville, an old mining village twelve miles east of here in the mountains. The buildings destroyed were the Centerville Hotel, a two-story frame structure; the general merchandise store; a saloon; a stock worth about $1000; a large barn, a dance hall and a miner's cabin. The total loss is estimated at $10,000.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company, which has a large power house in Centerville, which for a time was threatened by the flames, but was finally saved from serious damage. The company sent a crew of men from Chico to the scene.

The buildings destroyed were all owned by the estate of Mrs. John Adams, who died three months ago. Her husband, a pioneer, founded the town, and in the height of the mining days it was a sizable community.

Since Mrs. Adams' death the town has been practically deserted. The hotel and the store being used. The only occupant of the hotel was Mrs. Emma Lawrence of Marysville, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Adams, who was on business in connection with the settlement of the estate. She escaped without injury.

DORRIS, June 21.—Fire destroyed $125,000 worth of lumber in the yards of the Peppers Cotton Lumber Company at MacDoel, twenty miles from here. Sunday night. No fire apparatus was used to stop the progress of the flames. The blaze is believed to have been of incendiary origin and Sheriff Calkins has been asked to conduct an investigation. Caterpillars were used to tear down lumber piles and a tramway to curb the further spread of the conflagration. The water in the mill pond also was turned loose to flood the yard. Fifty trees were also felled to save the burning mill.

ORLAND HOMES BURNED.
ORLAND, June 21.—The homes of J. F. Sprout and Paul O. Lord were destroyed by fire here yesterday. The loss is placed at $10,000. Not a drop of water could be used until after the fire was out.

Amundsen Tells How Ice, Blizzard Halted His Trip

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE

NOME, Alaska, June 21.—Masses of early arctic ice last August locked in a rigid grip the vessel

Maude, on which Amundsen, discoverer of the South Pole, hoped to drift past the North Pole, and a terrible blizzard swept the schooner

ashore, ninety miles from Cape

Serge, and smashed her propeller, he said here today.

Captain Amundsen appeared in

Nome last week with the tidings that his ship was disabled, and he would have had to be towed to Seattle for repairs. Later returning to the exploration, he left Norway in 1918, and has been in the Arctic seas nineteen

"When I left Nome early last

August," the explorer related, "I proceeded in the vicinity of Cape

Serge, where I was to pick up a native family to add to the crew, but the ice conditions were the worst in years and we were forced to lay to for two weeks, during which time it was impossible to reach shore."

Captain Amundsen explained that these weeks were required to cover

the ninety miles between East

Cape and Cape Serge. The Maude had lost one propeller going through the Northwest passage in 1919 and 1920—she is a twin screw type—and was pushing ahead with her remaining propeller.

"While working the vessel into

Cape Serge a blizzard swept the sea. We had all our anchors out, but the ice floes pushed everything ashore, where we found the other propeller out of commission, but no other damage apparent."

"There was no chance of escape,"

he added, "the schooner was frozen

in for the winter."

Everdrup and Oscar Wisting, two of the Maude's crew, left the vessel, ventured into Arctic winter, and made an extensive magnetic survey of the interior country.

LEFT SHIP MAY 27.

in care of the crew and went to East Cape, to await the arrival of a chance ship which might take him to Nome. At East Cape he was the guest of Charles Carpendale, a fur trader.

Captain Amundsen said natives on the Diomed Islands, informed of his plight, told a Captain Pedersen of the schooner Herman, which lost

no time in going to his rescue. Natives at Prince of Wales Island were starving, the explorer recalled, and

Captain Pedersen stopped to give them food from the ship's stores.

Accompanying Captain Amundsen

to Seattle were the twelve-year-old daughter of Carpendale, and a four-year-old Chuchuk native girl. He plans to send them both to Norway to be educated.

AUTO PLUNGES OVER CLIFF ON MONTE RIO GRADE

Four Persons Injured When Car Drops 100 Feet; Three Fatal Disasters

SANTA ROSA, June 21.—Four persons were injured, one perhaps fatally, near here late last night when an automobile containing Edward L. Wright of Santa Rosa, his wife, Mary, Miss Clara Boynton of Salt Lake City, and Harry Wright of Santa Rosa, plunged over a cliff on the Monte Rio grade and crashed 100 feet down the steep embankment to the canyon below.

Edward Wright received a fractured left leg, deep gashes on the head and shoulders while his wife Mary Wright, sustained deep gashes on the back and shoulders and a possibly broken back. Harry Wright received the more serious injuries when he was crushed against the side of the car as it careened down the steep bank. His left foot was crushed, his right knee sprained and his back and arms gashed by sharp stones and rocks on the hillside. His condition was critical.

Miss Boynton, who was driving the car, sustained a fractured right collarbone, deep gashes on the face and shoulders and shock. The highway at the particular point where the car leaped from the road is exceptionally narrow and is given by Miss Boynton as her reason for going over the cliff.

A rescue party was sent out from Gurneysville after word had been carried in by passing motorists. Headed by Dr. C. L. Schmidt, a party speeded to the scene and brought the injured to Santa Rosa.

THREE ARE KILLED
Alice Beecher, 6 years old, died here today as a result of injuries sustained when she was crushed beneath the wheels of her father's truck as it was being backed from a garage. Alvaro ranch.

SACRAMENTO, June 21.—Andrew Stock Tehama county, was killed and Frank W. Snelling and W. F. Scott were seriously injured when their automobile skidded in soft dirt and plunged over the bank near Towle last night. The men had been working on a bridge building near Shingle Springs.

Stock lived for some time after the accident, but died on the train as he was being brought here. The other two men are in the Southern Pacific hospital.

SWITCH ENGINE HITS AUTO, ONE DIES, TWO HURT

EUREKA, June 21.—A switch engine at Ager, near here, hit an automobile containing the family of a rancher named Rippon last night, killing Mrs. Rippon, perhaps fatally, injuring her husband and an infant child, and seriously injuring another son, six years old. Both legs of Mrs. Rippon were cut off by the engine.

CHICO, June 21.—Blinded by the glare of a headlight on a speeding automobile bound in the opposite direction, Vern Newman lost his bearings as he rounded Death curve on the Butte highway between Chico and Durham last night and drove his machine to one side of the road, where it careened, overturned and rolled into a ditch, pinning Newman and Richard J. Epp, the other occupant beneath it. Newman and Epp were seriously injured.

EUREKA, June 21.—William Anderson and J. Jensen, are in an Arcata hospital for injuries sustained when an automobile they were riding in between Arcata and Blue Lake went over a steep bank and crashed into a large rock. Neither of the men is said to be in a critical condition, although receiving many bruises and serious cuts from the broken glass of the wind shield.

PLUNGE OVER CLIFF
SAN JOSE, June 21.—A narrow escape from death was experienced by C. J. Wood, a San Francisco lumberman, and a woman companion, when the automobile they were driving plunged over a cliff about nine miles west of Los Gatos late Sunday night and was caught by a lone redwood tree, thereby preventing a 275-foot drop to the canyon below. The car was wrecked.

SANTA ROSA, June 21.—Eight Japanese were hurtled in as many different directions when a car in which they were riding in the state highway near here collided yesterday with Charles Linebaw's automobile yesterday. Both cars were badly wrecked, but the occupants escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

MODESTO, June 21.—John Pedes-to, truck gardener near here, fell asleep while driving his automobile truck into town at an early hour in the morning and crashed into the car of Andrew Brown, a city employee. The accident occurred directly in front of the local police headquarters. No one was hurt, but Brown's car was badly damaged.

GIRLS OF FRANCE SEEKING BEAUTY IN PRIZE RING

PARIS, June 21.—In an effort to improve the "physical contours of chorus girls," Leon Volterra, the "sporting impresario," has inaugurated a series of female boxing bouts at the Casino de Paris. The principal bout tonight is between Anne Myro, lovely vedette, and Maurice Chevalier, star comedian.

The girls wear fencing masks over their faces in order to prevent them being given black eyes and buffed ears, but they freely take the blows to the body while the audience cheers and bets as it takes sides in the battles.

The costumes worn are identical, with the customary trunks worn by male boxers with the exception of padded buffers suspended from the neck.

All front row seats are sold for weeks in advance and principally to American tourists.

Homeless in Pueblo Get Red Cross Aid

Rehabilitation of families who lost their homes and possessions in the Pueblo flood is being undertaken by the American Red Cross, its process involving the erection of small homes and other essential furnishing. Red Cross officials in charge estimate the cost at $500,000, according to announcement. The temporary emergency need has been fully met, Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the central committee, reports.

Red Cross chapters in the Pacific division have contributed $5,118.50 to the Pueblo Flood Relief fund. Colonel Filmer stated yesterday the report of gifts yesterday amounted to $443.60, as follows: Santa Barbara, $713.60; McGill, Nevada, $260; Ruth, Nevada, $250; Angles Camp, $100; Pacific Grove, $100; Martinez, $20. Martiner had made previous contribution of $75.

Mob Hangs Convict To Gate of Prison

JACKSON, Miss., June 21.—Louis Wimberly, an 18-year-old convict, was seized by a mob and hanged at the gate of the state convict farm seven miles from here. He was a truck and was alleged to have attacked a woman. Two other trustees caught him several miles from the farm. While efforts were being made to place him in the county jail he was taken from officers and lynched.

Chinese Objected To as Neighbors

SACRAMENTO, June 21.—The status of settlement of the Chinese in the residential section of Sacramento developed with the circulation of petitions by white residents protesting the sale of two houses at 711 and 715 Eighth street to Chinese merchants.

The houses were sold to the Chinese by Carmichael Company, and all protests will be of no avail, according to agents of the real estate concern, as the Chinese are native born Americans.

City Prosecutor H. N. Mitchell, a resident of the section in which the Chinese have purchased the homes, stated that he had been appealed to by the North Side Improvement Company.

EX-JUDGE STORY DIES
LOS ANGELES, June 21.—William Story, 66, of Uray, Colo., former United States district judge for the Western district of Arkansas and in 1891 lieutenant-governor of Colorado, died of heart failure here.

Hey Fellers, Want a Trip to Sierras? Just Ask the Tribune to Help You Out

Listen, Buddie!
How are you going to spend your vacation this summer?
Are you just going to stay around Oakland and other cities in the East-bay region all summer, sweltering during the summer, and then when the fall term begins go back to school feeling as though you had no vacation at all? And you won't have much of a one if you put in your time that way.

If you don't get busy pretty quick and begin making plans for a good time, the days are going to hang pretty heavy on your hands and you're liable to be glad when school starts so you'll have something to occupy your time.

However, if you get in on a real vacation and have a good time, when school begins this fall you will go back rearin' to go to work and with lots of pep, and as a result, probably will astonish your mothers and fathers with your marks when the monthly report cards come around.

Now there is only one way to have a vacation this summer and that is to get out in the mountain woods where there's lots of swell swimmin' and fishin'. Lots of boys will do this and then there are a lot who won't be able to because it would cost a lot of money. However, now, that's no excuse.

It's just for these boys who ordinarily wouldn't be able to enjoy a vacation in the outdoors that The TRIBUNE is putting on its special vacation offer. The TRIBUNE wants every boy in the Eastbay region to have the kind of a vacation he would like and therefore has arranged for two trips to the Oakland municipal camp in the Stanislaus national forest for all boys who want to go and who are 12 years or more of age.

To take advantage of this offer is easy. All you have to do is put on your cap and run down to The TRIBUNE building, at Thirteenth and Franklin streets and ask for the Vacation Department.

When you see one of the men in this department, just say the magic words and you are all set for a vacation.

"What do I have to do to go to camp? I want to go."

Then the man in the Vacation Department will give you all the dope. Remember, there are two TRIBUNE camping trips this summer.

One leaves on July 4 and lasts until the 18th.

The other begins August 1 and closes August 13.

Which one will you be on? If you can't make the first trip, make arrangements to go on the second right away. There is no limit to the number of boys who The TRIBUNE will send to camp, and there is no reason why you or any other fellow shouldn't take advantage of this fine offer.

Will you be there?

The Tartars since ancient times have prepared a beverage called koumiss by fermenting mare's milk.

WOMAN BURNED IN TRYING TO SAVE EARNINGS

NILES, June 21.—Overcome by the intense heat and smoke, burned about the face and arms, and with her clothing a mass of flames, Mrs. Joseph Paratili was dragged by firemen from her burning home here late yesterday, after she had risked her life and entered the burning house in an unsuccessful attempt to rescue the savings of a life-time, $2000, which she kept in a trunk in her bedroom.

The house caught fire when Mrs. Paratili's 12-year-old son, Frank, a deaf mute, overturned an oil stove with which he was playing in the kitchen. Alarmed, he fled to an adjoining room where his mother was working, but before Mrs. Paratili could turn in an alarm the kitchen was a mass of flames.

Schoolboy Rescues Teacher From River
GATESVILLE, June 21.—Willie Water of the Guilford school district saved his teacher from drowning in the river back of the Guilford school house, where the teacher, Miss Hastings, and pupils had gone to enjoy a swim. Miss Brown, teacher in the higher grades, and the students were also spending the afternoon swimming in the river. Miss Hastings, who is not an expert swimmer, was swimming in the river where the water is not very deep, but had gradually drifted out to deep water and, becoming frightened, sank to the bottom. Young Water, who was diving from a bank, observed the young woman go down and realizing that something was wrong, dived under the water and brought her to shore. Miss Hastings soon revived. Young Water was exhausted when he reached the shore.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN

Wedding in Presbyterian Edifice

The First Baptist church of Berkeley was the setting for the wedding of Miss Ada Shewman and Captain Curtis Newton, U. S. A., Thursday evening, the nuptial vows exchanged before several hundred guests. An arch of flowers was constructed before which the couple pledged their troth. Rev. C. M. Hill of the Berkeley Divinity school officiated. Mrs. Stella Kronquist rendered two solos during the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of white charmeuse made with a draped skirt and court train suspended from the shoulders. Her bridal veil was of Belgian lace arranged in cape effect with a fan shaped comb in the coiffure. The shower bouquet was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Pearl Shewman was maid of honor for her sister and wore Nile green taffeta and silver lace.

The bridesmaids—the Misses Edith Newton, Edna Maynes, Edna Brown, Eva Lee Grove, Ora Howard and Marlan Chandler of Arizona, were attractively gowned in various colored organdy frocks with which they wore large drooping picture hats to match. They carried Dolly Varden baskets filled with flowers.

Little Betty Nixon, flower girl, and Mary Nixon, ring bearer, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Nixon of Idaho, wore frocks of pink and white band.

Arthur La Prade acted as best man for Captain Newton while the ushers at the church were George White, Benton Harvey, William Young, Bradford Bosley, Waite Stephenson, and F. A. Perkins. All were classmates and fraternity brothers of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony there was a reception and wedding supper served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Ada Shewman in Derby street. The young couple are to pass their honeymoon in the southern part of the state, after which they will reside in Camp Lewis.

The bride is an attractive young woman and a graduate of the University of California, and is well known in college circles.

Captain Newton also received his degree from the State University. He is a Delta Chi fraternity man.

Mrs. Edgar Axton Jones who resides at the Claremont Country Club is on a motor trip to the southern part of the State.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Wingate and their children are to summer on their ranch during the summer months.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF DAUGHTER.
Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Schachtebeck of 5433 Cassill street announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elsie Schachtebeck, to Lieutenant J. A. Scott, U. S. N., son of Representative Scott of Oklahoma. At present the office is connected with the supply office of the U. S. destroyer Force, now in San Diego waters. The wedding is planned for July.

Mme. Jeanne Jomelli entertained at a musical tea at the Hotel Richmond in San Francisco Friday afternoon in honor of Miss Bernice Frank of Cleveland.

The affair was attended by about twenty of Mme. Jomelli's pupils, who enjoyed vocal selections by Mrs. George Dupen, Mrs. Arthur Bennett Roehl, Mrs. Melba Robertson, Mrs. Joelle Raus Adams, Miss Consuela de Laveaga and Miss Pilar Meriz. The accompaniments were played by Mrs. Ord Bohannon.

The engagement of Samuel B. Whilinger and Miss Jane Vishnek of Fourteenth avenue has been announced. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Vishnik. The bride-elect is a member of a large wholesale concern.

WEDDING IN BERKELEY CHURCH.
In the presence of sixty-five guests Miss Mary E. Clark became the bride of Earl Ehlers at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening with Rev. James Falconer of the Knox Presbyterian church officiating. The ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Clark in Fulton street, Berkeley. Mrs. Marion Clark Jr. was matron of honor and Miss Eva Ehlers, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. Henry Ehlers was best man for his brother. The romance is one which has dated from early school days. Pink and white were carried out in the decorations, sweet peas and carnations being used.

The bride was married in a gown of white georgette over silk with the formal veil and shower of white sweet peas. She was married upon the thirty-seventh anniversary of her parents.

Mrs. Marion Ehlers was in pink georgette and Miss Eva Ehlers in Nile green, both carrying showers of pink sweet peas.

The couple have gone to Yosemite Valley on their honeymoon and have taken apartments in Berkeley which they will occupy upon their return.

Of interest to the local college set is the wedding in Susanville next Sunday of Miss Edythe A. Long and C. Homer Vincent, formerly of this city. The future bridegroom is Delta Theta Pi fraternity member and attended the University of California before going into the lumber business in the northern country. The wedding is to be a quiet home affair with only relatives attending, after which the newlyweds will leave for Lake Tahoe for a few days before completing their honeymoon around the bay.

FORTY-SEVEN ARE HELD ON ARRIVAL FOR DEPORTATION

Immigration Inspectors Begin Rigid Enforcement of New Act

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—Following recent instructions from Washington to begin the enforcement of the new immigration act, five inspectors, headed by Deputy Commissioner Joseph Strand and Com. Crawford, boarded the Union liner Tahiti, arrived from New Zealand, and held 57 men, women and children of British birth for deportation.

Eleven children of varying ages were taken in the immigration net. As to the possibility of their being landed there is grave question. The Tahiti left New Zealand before the new immigration law became effective. It was stated by representatives of the Union Steamship Company that the American consuls at Wellington and at way ports, such as Raratonga, in Fiji, and Papeete, in Tahiti had received no advice regarding the entry of aliens.

A report of the situation was wired to Washington and the instructions asked. Meanwhile the travelers were detained aboard the vessel.

Under the enactment the quota for New Zealand for June is but four persons and slightly more for Australia. Only 50 New Zealanders and 271 Australians may be landed during the entire year under the act.

BUMP CAUSES MEMORY LOSS; BUMPED BACK

LOS ANGELES, June 21.—Rolling out of his cot at the Los Angeles Receiving Hospital, where he was taken when found wandering in downtown streets, a victim of amnesia, Elmer Parsons, 26, regained his memory and related that he forgot his identity as a result of a blow received in a battle with a bandit.

Physicians considered the patient's case highly unusual. Parsons was a former soldier and stated that he had been shell-shocked in France.

In regard to having his memory pounded out of him and bumped in again it was stated that because of the shell-shock attack his system is very sensitive.

After regaining his memory Parsons narrated the circumstances connected with an attack made on him by a holdup man. His clothes were taken to him, and it was found that the bandit had taken a wallet containing $30.

Half of Baby Deaths Blamed to Parents

SACRAMENTO, June 21.—Approximately one-half of the infant deaths in California are caused by congenital defects or disease for which the parents are responsible, according to figures made public here yesterday by L. E. Ross, director of the bureau of vital statistics of the State Board of Health.

According to the statement, a total of 1654 infant deaths occurred during the first four months of 1921. Of this number 841 died of congenital causes. "Premature birth leads in fatalities among the congenital causes," Ross said.

A total number of births during the first four months of year was given as 23,132.

It was said that the wounded persons would recover.

The admiral said his wife had told him she desired a divorce.

Ban on Bath Suits As Street Attire

MADISON (Wis.), June 21.—Parading the streets in one-piece bathing suits the police decided is a privilege to be denied citizens and, as well, University of Wisconsin co-eds, who during the recent spell have neglected additional outer covering in their stroll to Lake Mendota. A woman had complained and a policeman sent home fifteen additional bathers to obtain additional clothing, while many others had been instructed to button up their outer attire.

LABOR TO URGE REGULATION TO COMBAT COSTS

Abolition of Gambling in Grain Futures and U. S.
Supervision Favored

DENVER, June 21.—Abolition of gambling in grain futures on the Chicago Board of Trade, establishment of co-operative producers and consumers' organizations, and government regulation of corporations and monopolies were urged today by the convention of the American Federation of Labor as a means to combat the high cost of living.

The work of the Federal Trade Commission was commended, and Congress was urged to provide funds for investigation of all industries and publication of statistics showing the cost of production and marketing of all staple commodities.

"If the people are in full possession of all the facts," the declaration said, "of cost of production and marketing, public opinion would have a powerful effect in reducing prices, and there would be no necessity of prosecution under the Sherman anti-trust law."

In urging the abolition of gambling in futures and unnecessary commissions and brokerage operations, the resolution said: "There are too many overtures between the producers and consumer, which ultimately increase the cost of living."

The convention went on record against legislation fixing wages of the workers, declaring that if American standards are to be governed by laws enacted by a congress made up of men not alive to maintaining those standards the workers of the country will suffer irreparable injury by legislation governing their wages."

An educational campaign to give the teachers and students of the country "the truth about the labor movement" and "meet the propaganda" in the schools of the country in furtherance of the so-called "open shop" was authorized by the delegates.

CONTEST FOR PRESIDENT.
Campaigners for both John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and Samuel Gompers, candidate for the presidency, were working at top speed today when the sessions of the convention were resumed.

Supporters of the candidates were busy throughout the night and conferences were held that are reported to have considerably changed the line-up of both sides in the contest.

Each candidate expressed themselves as confident of victory, declaring that they had been pledged sufficient votes to win. Their claims, however, conflicted, and no accurate estimate could be made of the votes that each would probably receive.

Official announcement of the decision of the representatives of the railroad workers was awaited with interest, as both the Gompers and Lewis supporters claimed a majority of these organizations.

The Electrical Workers and the International Ladies Garment Workers were also claimed by both candidates.

ADDED TO LIST.
The Lewis supporters today added the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers and Railway Carmen, and nearly 150 single files of state and central bodies to their list, which already includes the Machinists' Union, Mine Workers and Carpenters' and Joiners' Union—the three largest in the federation, with a combined voting strength of 16,214.

Neither candidate issued a statement, but Lewis said that during the day he probably would outline his program and platform on which he will wage his campaign.

The election, labor leaders said, would be made a special order of business for next Friday afternoon.

The most important issue to come before the convention today was the Irish question, on which the resolutions committee was ready to report.

This committee, it is understood, would report unfavorably the declaration calling for a boycott of British-made goods and urge the convention to adopt the resolution, expressing sympathy for the Irish cause and urging recognition of the Irish republic by the United States.

OLD SOL BREAKS UNION RULES IN THIS DAY'S WORK

Stays on Job 15 Hours and 50
Minutes; Longest Day
In Year

This is one day in the year when Time does not fly. It is the longest day in the year. Old Sol, to whom the eight-hour day is an unknown quantity, will run his hot-aerial express for 15 hours and 50 minutes today, that being the exact time measurement from dawn to sunset.

Technically speaking June 21 is the summer solstice. There is plenty of "sol" in it, but little "ice." Today is the day that the old boy from whom we get our coats of tan, makes preliminary preparations to ease up on the length of his working day.

True before inaugurating his short-hours program, he decided to put in a good, hot sunny day's work. So he got up at 4:46 a. m. and stayed on the job continuously. His scheduled quitting time for tonight was 7:36 sharp.

FARMER SHOOT'S THREE.
BUFFALO, N. Y., June 21.—Three persons were wounded today when Frank Fisher, a farmer, held the main street of Oakfield, 30 miles east of here, for an hour firing with a rifle at pedestrians. He was captured after he had used all his ammunition. Fisher was released from a state hospital for the insane a year ago.

MANY JAPANESE INJURED IN RIOT AT SHIPYARDS

Encounter at Osaka Due to Rejection of Demands of Workers

HONOLULU, June 21.—In a riot in which striking shipyard workers participated at Osaka, a number of police were slashed and badly cut with knives and a large number of the rioters were injured, according to the Japanese language newspaper Jiji.

The cause of the riot is said to have been the rejection by the Osaka employers of the ten demands of the workers which included collective bargaining and other conventional labor demands. Much unrest is reported among the other workers in Osaka, and further trouble is feared.

Bay Point Afternoon Club Is Entertained

BAY POINT, June 21.—Mrs. John Nelson was hostess yesterday to a number of Bay Point women, members of the Afternoon Club. Among those present were Mrs. C. B. Johnson, Mrs. H. H. Roman, Mrs. Y. L. Whittington and the hostess, Henry Huber of Oakland left today for that city after spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson.

RARE PAINTING GIVEN FOR ONE LITTLE BANANA

TORONTO, Ont., June 21.—There came to Toronto recently an Italian immigrant, with a bundle of clothing under one arm and a canvas under the other. For days he looked in vain for work. Today, with his purse as empty as his stomach, he approached the fruit stand of Angelo Carpenelo. "How much da banan?" he asked, pointing.

"Five cents," was the answer. The immigrant glanced at the canvas he carried, gazed at the fruit and looked again at the canvas.

"Take da piccy?" he asked, holding out the painting.

The bargain was struck. The immigrant departed with a banana, and Carpenelo bore the painting to a fellow countryman who deals in art objects.

The dealer examined the picture—Christ crowned with thorns—and then at a faint, illegible signature at the corner. There was a burst of Italian superlatives and Carpenelo heard the names "Michelangelo" and "Guido."

"How much you give?" asked Carpenelo.

GIRL WON'T WED; BEING HELD AT ANGEL ISLAND

Fair Australian Changes Her Mind; She May Be Deported

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—Held by immigration authorities at the quarantine station on Angel Island today, following her arrival this morning on the steamer Ventura, Miss Jean Hillen has her choice of marrying Peter Lappas, a local automobile salesman, or being returned to her home in Melbourne, Australia. Despite the pleas of Lappas, her former fiancé, whom it is declared she came to this country to marry, Miss Hillen is emphatic in her assertions that she will not become his bride.

"I want to land in the United States, but I will not marry him. I'll go back home first," Miss Hillen said today at Angel Island where she is being held, refused entrance to this country under the alien law, unless she marries.

According to Lappas, he was in Melbourne some time ago and met Miss Hillen. A rapid courtship followed and they were engaged. Lappas said he left Australia to come back to America and made plans to have Miss Hillen join him.

PROTEST IS MADE AGAINST DISPLAY OF WAR RELICS

BERKELEY, June 21.—There'll be no more common or other war relics displayed if Herbert Jones, merchant, has his way. Jones has expressed his sentiments in a letter to Mayor Louis Bartlett as follows:

"You asked for an expression of opinion from citizens as to the desirability of accepting certain cannon from the Mare Island Navy Yard for ornamental purposes in Berkeley."

"To me cannon represent butchery and wholesale murder. They are symbolic of carnage, pain, and grief. They tell of waste and destruction. They are survivals from eras of savagery and hate of humanity. They have no place in a scheme of life where reason rather than force prevails. As monuments they extol everything that forward-looking peoples should strive to avoid."

YOUTHS BOMBARD ALAMEDA STREET CAR WITH EGGS

Police Search for Gang of Boys Who Made Raid on Train Last Night

ALAMEDA, June 21.—An investigation is being conducted today by police here into the circumstances surrounding the bombing of a street car with eggs at Grand street and San Jose avenue last night by a gang of boys about 17 years old.

With apparently no reason, the boys, when the car came to the corner, began hurling eggs at it. Several passengers were struck by the missiles.

The conductor was W. Wearing. The affair was reported to the police and officers were dispatched to the scene in automobiles, but were unable to find any trace of the offenders.

BEANS

with Tomato Sauce

Small wonder the tired business man comes to life in such a hurry! The first whiff is so fragrant and appetizing. The taste is better than you ever supposed beans could taste.

The distinctive, unmistakable flavor of Heinz Baked Beans comes from perfect seasoning with the famous Tomato Sauce made and used exclusively in the spotless Heinz kitchens.

And the good-tasting, real-bean flavor and real-bean nutriment is due to the baking in real ovens by dry heat. Every bean is baked through to the center—mealy, sweet, wholesome and whole, and easy to digest.

Heinz Oven Baked Beans are good hot or cold.

Patterson to Have Fair in September

PATTERSON, June 21.—It has finally been decided to hold another of the annual fairs which have been so successful here of late years. The date has not been determined, but it will be some time late in September, in all probability. Fred Weber, manager of last year's exposition, made a strong plea for concerted action.

With every tire priced at true worth, what need would there be for "discounts"

may be divided roughly into two classes.

One goes on the idea that the public doesn't think much. The other believes that public good sense makes the right decision nine times out of ten.

Concern No. 1 likes to keep away from facts. Concern No. 2 is anxious to place all the facts possible before people.

It is interesting to watch these conflicting methods working out in the tire industry.

Eighteen months ago the makers of U. S. Royal Cord Tires put themselves on record against the unsoundness of the "discount" way of selling tires.

Going right ahead and making the par quality tire at a net price.

Opposing the confusion of "so much off list." Because list prices don't mean anything until the real worth of the tire itself is proven. Because "discounts" mean still less when list price has no relation to value.

Now it is evident the public hasn't been backward in finding out the truth.

Rising above all the uncertainty of "discount" appeal comes the clear, sharp public opinion in favor of U. S. Royal Cords.

More dealers by 36% than a year ago. In May 1921 alone an increase in sales of U.S. Royal Cords of more than 25% over May 1920.

Car-owners know more than they let on. They are letting the "discount" situation run its course.

And turning to U. S. Royal Cords as the par quality tire at a net price. The most significant thing that is happening in tires today.

Development of Parks in Hills Urged on Berkeley

BERKELEY, June 21.—Development of a chain of parks in the hills before the land is turned over to other purposes was the plea of Dr. Rastall, at a meeting of the high school last night. The Berkeley hills, he said, afforded ideal location for park areas.
"Communities can't just grow up. They must be planned ahead or they will suffer later on. Without city planning any community is building up a mediocre future," said Rastall. Steps to solve the water problem for the East Bay region were urged by Professor Charles Dethlefsen, Jr., of the University of California and G. S. Wilhelm, chief engineer for the East Bay Water Company.
"No community can act singly," declared Dethlefsen. "We must decide on some plan of action. Either we must let the private companies proceed themselves or we must take over these companies."
That some action must be taken within five years to bring in a new water supply was the statement of Wilhelm, who estimated that the present resources would be exhausted within ten years. Five years, he said, would be required to develop an additional supply, making it imperative, according to his statement, that work begin in 1922.
In speaking of the water company's stand Wilhelm said: "We occupy a neutral position. We are perfectly willing to have the cities develop their supply or we are willing to do the work ourselves, provided the people tell us to go ahead. We can't begin without co-operation for millions of dollars will be involved in the work."
The San Pablo dam, Wilhelm stated, would be completed in three months after which he said all immediate sources of water supply would have been exhausted. It will then be necessary, he said, to go some distance for new sources of supply.

Boy Saves One Life; One Drowns at Beach

HANFORD, June 21.—Bert Griffin, 15-year-old high school boy of this city, saved the life of Homer Cox, Santa Maria (Cal) vacationist, at Pismo Beach, yesterday afternoon, but Charles Dyer, a companion of Cox, was drowned, according to word received here from San Luis Obispo.
Dyer, whose home is also in Santa Maria, was taken with a cramp while in swimming and was being swept seaward, when Cox attempted to save him. Dyer fought Cox and both were being carried out by the undertow when Griffin saw them. He first attempted to save both men, but was obliged to abandon Dyer and swim ashore with Cox, who was resuscitated. Griffin is spending his vacation at Pismo Beach.

Board of Trade Is O.K'd By Yolo Jury
WOODLAND, June 21.—When the Yolo county grand jury failed to find anything irregular in the conduct of the Yolo board of trade last week, A. W. Morris, chairman, ordered a meeting of the directors and last night Fred Shaffer, secretary and general manager, stated that the board was made, was re-elected to the office he now holds, and with highest recommendations. A number of lawyers argued that the board was costing too much money and urged its abolition. E. H. Hawaiian Crushed or Grated Pineapple

Serve it Like Apple Sauce
For serving just as it comes from the container, or for making pies and puddings, for salads and desserts, Hawaiian Crushed or Grated Pineapple is the most convenient pineapple to use.
Hawaiian Crushed or Grated Pineapple is genuine, sun-ripened fruit, packed before sundown on the day that it is picked; thus is all its native flavor and lusciousness preserved.
Buy it at your grocer's in half dozen or dozen lots. It will keep perfectly until you are ready for its use, and it will always come in handy for the emergency.

STEWARDS ABOARD STILLMAN'S YACHT TO GIVE EVIDENCE

Man Offers to Tell of Wild Parties on Vessel; Mrs. Leeds Again Involved

NEW YORK, June 21.—An intimate, colorful, eye-witness account of life aboard James A. Stillman's yacht when Mrs. Florence Leeds was retained as its undisputed queen has been obtained—in deposition form—by attorneys of Mrs. Stillman for use in her affirmative defense to the divorce suit charges, it became known today.

Most of the new evidence comes from Frank Murphy, for eighteen months' chief steward aboard the Modesty, who has resigned his position and come to New York at his own expense to do his part, as he says, to insure a square deal for the wife of his former employer. Murphy has volunteered to take the witness stand and tell what he knows of the banker's relations with the one-time Century Roof chorus girl under oath. He will be the first witness called when the defense opens—unless there is some unforeseen change of plans.

EARLY DEPARTURES
The ex-steward will tell of at least two occasions when he saw Mrs. Leeds taking early morning departures from the de luxe cabin of Stillman on the forward deck of the yacht. He will relate details of gay parties aboard the yacht, with a golden cocktail shaker as the apparent center of interest. He will describe an impromptu rite made upon the luxurious little craft by private detectives disguised as revenue agents on the lookout for bootleggers, and will pave the way for visitors to tell of observation made by him through a porthole of the banker's cabin.

Quiet evenings with books—enlivened only by occasional use of the golden cocktail shaker—took turns with hilarious parties, Murphy relates in his deposition. But the books that served to entertain the banker and his ex-chorus girl guest provided plenty of "life" in these "quiet" evenings, according to the former steward's story. Stillman, he says, was especially fond of reading Balzac to Mrs. Leeds, and there was also a parchment edition of the Arabian Nights.

Boccaccio, too, was in the yacht's library, Mrs. Leeds, according to Murphy, listened intently to these tales, often clapped her hands and asked the banker to read them over and over again.

Murphy's wealth of information regarding the "intimacies" aboard the yacht was obtained by him, he says, thanks to the fact that he served all meals and often took the place of two mess boys.

Thus, early one morning, when there had been a call for mess boy "Pato," Murphy himself answered it and it was then that he stumbled across Mrs. Leeds, emerging from Stillman's cabin, clad in a kimono.

MRS. STILLMAN ARRESTED
ELIZABETH N. J., June 21.—On a charge of exceeding the speed limit, Mrs. James A. Stillman is scheduled to appear in the Rahway Police Court today, following her arrest Saturday as she was riding in her automobile to Princeton. Motor-cyclist Officer Harry Orr stopped the car and brought the two to headquarters.

"It'll cost you $10 to secure your release now," said Sergeant Frank Reimer to the chauffeur.

"It was my fault, as I was in a hurry to get to Princeton," said Mrs. Stillman.

Sergeant Reimer scrutinized the woman as he accepted the $10.

"You seem to know me," said Mrs. Stillman.

"You probably have seen my photograph in the newspapers," said Mrs. Stillman and handed her card to the sergeant. Departing, Mrs. Stillman said:

"I wish you good night and good luck."

ATTACK MADE ON SAN JOSE GIRLS

SAN JOSE, June 21.—Police of this city are today following up the search instituted last night for two men who, according to police reports, attempted to force two girls, aged 17 years of age, into an automobile in South First street, near William.

The girls claim they were walking on First street toward their homes when an automobile drove up to the curbing near them and two young men jumped out, rushed at them and endeavored to force them bodily into the waiting automobile.

According to their story, the girls resisted violently and screamed for help, whereupon their assailants became frightened.

The police, who are withholding the names of the girls attacked, are completely mystified at the unusual act, attempted, it is said by the girls, in a startlingly brazen manner.

MISUSE OF STATE HIGHWAY FUNDS DENIED BY BOARD

Commission Says Criticism of Borrowing From Motor Vehicle Fund Unjust

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—Answering the California State Automobile Association's charges that funds derived from the licensing of motor vehicles have been misused, the California Highway Commission denies the charge and calls attention to the law which says that the money collected from the licensing of automobiles shall be expended under the direction of the State Department of Engineering. The Highway Commission maintains that not all license fees are used for the maintenance of highways due to the clause in the state laws, and not due to any action on the part of the association.

The report states that the commission has expended the bulk of motor vehicle funds on maintenance. In the State Automobile Association's report, which charged the Highway Association with the misappropriation of funds, it was declared that out of a total of $5,781,733 received up to June 30, 1920, $1,787,391 had been expended for improvements.

"This statement is misleading," says the report from the Highway Association. "An analysis of items classified as improvements shows that it is made up of work on state roads not included in bond issues. These are special maintenance expenditures. Little money has been spent for motor vehicle improvements, and no money from bonds could have been used."

Commission members maintain that criticism by the State Automobile Association for borrowing from the motor vehicle fund for deposit in the state highway fund is unjust because, they assert, this procedure was necessary in order to meet highway obligations and keep highway work under way.

Typhoid Warning Issued to Campers
Summer illnesses have not struck Oakland, according to Health Officer Kirby Smith.

"California does not seem to suffer from the diseases in children in the same way that eastern states do," says Dr. Smith. "The largest vacation problem now is typhoid. It may seem that a fine mountain stream is not dangerous, but one typhoid carrier in swimming may contaminate it for miles."

In Oakland the danger is at a minimum. Every morning the drinking water from every portion of the city is analyzed, and if it calls below par at any place we take immediate steps to correct it."

MAN IS CHARGED WITH LURING 18 NURSES TO ROOM

Subterfuge of Illness Made Occasion to Attempt Attack, Police Told

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—Charging that he lured several nurses to his apartment on the subterfuge that he was ill and then attempted to attack them when they were caught unawares, were made today against A. H. Miller, editor of a local trade periodical who has offices in a downtown office building and lives at 1165 Leavenworth street. The arrest was made by Policewoman Kathryn Eisenhart and Detectives Richards and Cottle. Miller was charged with attempted felonious assault.

The police say they believe as many as eighteen nurses spent uncomfortable evenings in Miller's apartment if some, in fact, did not fall into the trap he is alleged to have prepared for them. According to the officers, Miller would telephone to the nurses' home, conducted by the American Ambulance Company at 146 Central avenue, saying he was ill and needing some one to look after him. A nurse would be summoned to his apartment, and then he would attempt to attack them. Both Miss Miller and Miss Hunniford made detailed statements to Captain of Detectives Duncan Matheson.

San Francisco News

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—Salary increases totaling $40,000 may go into effect later, following the vote yesterday of 14 members of the board of supervisors over the protest of the finance committee of that organization. The vote of 14 was two votes short of the required number to make effective the proposal for increased pay. Among those whose salaries will be increased if the required number of votes is cast in favor of the proposition, are 53 jailers in Sheriff Funn's department, 38 constables with the city clerk's office, three bookkeepers in the sheriff's department, 12 sheriff's deputies, 26 constables in the recorder's office, assistant probation officer, eight juvenile court field deputies, and three assistant deputies in the coronator's office.

Local Shriners are making final preparations for the spectacular production "The Lion and the Unicorn" at the Valencia Theater, Thursday and Friday nights. Among other features of the gathering on that night will be the discussion of plans for 1922. Delegates of Island Temple of the Mystic Shrine returned last evening from the gathering of the Imperial Council at Des Moines, Iowa. After Master James Ralph Jr. had greeted illustrious Potentate Ernest C. Hunter, a parade was held in which the band of Ashmores Temple, Oakland, and the Ashmores drill corps, in charge of Capt. Henry Steinbach, took a prominent part.

Police and Health Department authorities are investigating the disappearance of a diamond pin and a pair of cuff buttons said to have been taken from Colonel Ray Butler, who was taken to the Central Emergency Hospital following an attack of heart trouble on May 28.

During the inquiry of the building materials situation last night a row was precipitated in the grand jury room by the following question from Alfred Lillienfeld, a grand juror: "When a tax dodger is the war?" To this question J. S. Nelson, a witness, to whom the query was addressed, replied: "Not much; I served overseas." He then made a rush at his interlocutor and a heated discussion followed.

Added evidence tending to show that Eugene, 7-year-old son of Mrs. Marie Del Secco, is the son of James Sorine, is announced following the comparative studies of the face and head qualities of alleged father and son just completed by Harg Patigan, the sculptor. The question of the boy's paternity is before Superior Judge Graham.

It is announced, following the return yesterday of the Hawaiian commission from Washington, D. C., that work has just been received from the islands that a plan has been developed which, it is expected, will solve the problem of Japanese labor in the islands. It is said that one feature of the solution will be the permitting of only 20 per cent of the foreign workmen to be of Japanese nationality.

In accordance with the provisions of the new immigration law 35 immigrants, largely Australians and South Sea Islanders who arrived on the Tahiti yesterday, are being detained on board ship. It was pointed out that the new law limits the number of immigrants to 3 per cent of each national population in this country, as shown by the 1910 census.

It is reported that the disabled steamer Queen is in tow of the lumber steamer Johanna Smith and is being brought to this port. There are 150 passengers aboard.

Further impetus is given the bridge-bay project today following yesterday's luncheon meeting of the San Francisco Electrical League, in which the proposition was favorably discussed. It is announced that the San Francisco Labor Council has unanimously endorsed the project.

"The Man Nobody Knows," the wounded sergeant whose mind has been a blank since 1918, when he was picked up by stretcher bearers on No Man's Land, is still striving vainly to solve his identity. He went to Sacramento recently on a crew furnished by another soldier, but has been unable to recall any familiar scenes or faces there.

An effort is being made to recover the body of Robert J. Gray, real estate dealer of the city, who was drowned in the Merced river near Yosemite, yesterday. Gray's home was at 733 Clayton street.

S. P. SHOP HANDS AT BAKERSFIELD VOTE FOR STRIKE

Union Officer Says Crafts All Over Country Will Join to Fight Wage Cut

BAKERSFIELD, June 21.—Two hundred and eighty of 286 members of the Federated Shop Hands of the Southern Pacific Company in Bakersfield voted last night to reject the 3 per cent wage reduction awarded the railroad against them, effective July 1, and to strike if the reduction is enacted. It was announced today by M. T. Palmer, secretary of the local crafts, who said that a 93 per cent affirmative vote was polled on the rejection proposal.

Palmer said the strike vote in the shop crafts was country-wide, the ballot being sent by the various locals to national headquarters of the railroad employees' department in Chicago, which, he said, called the vote. Private despatches from the national headquarters to the local here, Palmer said, indicated an almost unanimous vote in favor of the strike if the wages are cut as per schedule.

Housewives Can Help Cut Fuel Bills

THE WOMEN, guardians of the family purse, buy 90% of the coal used for domestic purposes. If the women throughout the nation so mind, they can relieve to a great extent the suffering experienced by families of coal miners who have no work. In addition, the women can stabilize a mighty industry, bring order out of chaos, enable railroads to handle more tonnage, assist coal dealers to tender better services—and bring down the prices of coal.

This seems like a Herculean task to place upon the women. It is a big task—one that cannot be completed immediately.

But, if the women of the nation will only concentrate their effort in buying the household coal in the summer months, they will abolish an economic evil that cannot be corrected by all the acts of Congress under Christendom!

In order to encourage the women of this locality to buy coal now, and thereby relieve to an extent a serious situation, the Coal Dealers have lowered the price $1.00 a ton on coal purchased for immediate delivery.

This cut price is not warranted by any indication that prices on coal will be lower this year. It is made simply in an attempt to abort a growing menace.

CITY COUNCIL IN BATTLE ON DRY MEASURE

Mayor and Retiring Members Engage in Word Battle; Action Taken on Several Measures Despite Debate

Wordy dialogues, tart retorts, and the constant slamming of the mayor's gavel, were features of a long and stormy session by the City Council today, with Mayor Davis holding the fort against verbal attacks by Commissioner Soderberg, and Commissioner Morse counter-attacking against a rousing assault of words by Commissioner Bacaus.

In spite of the battle the following acts were performed:

The Grant ordinance was passed to print. This is a localized edition of the Volstead act and gives the police power to enforce prohibition. Since it goes into the city treasury, the ordinance becomes effective in eight days.

Bids for all city supplies for the coming year, except lighting and service, were rejected. It is believed that lower prices will lessen future costs.

BIDS ARE CANCELED.

Bids for auditorium concessions were cancelled, and then called for again for the coming quarter. The bidding on the bids in this case, the better the city's income. The city is lessor.

A petition to employ C. S. MacMullen to review the assessment list to see that no property-owners escaped was turned down, with tart remarks by Mayor Davis concerning MacMullen.

The matter of the discharge of Dr. C. C. Wing, a veterinarian, was reported upon by City Efficiency Expert N. W. Cook, and referred back to Commissioner MacMullen. The matter is where it was before.

The first minor clash started when Soderberg moved to reject bids for auditorium concessions and call for higher ones. Commissioner Bacaus moved to reject all city bids.

"Some times," said Soderberg, "the auditorium concessions net $150 per night to the city."

"Why not take verbal agreements till the new administration comes in?" asked Bacaus.

INSULT, SAYS DAVIS.

"I present this method," said Soderberg, "to insure the money going into the city instead of private pockets, as was the custom. It was one of the grafts practiced by the city government many times."

MacMullen's proposition soon came up. MacMullen offered to search the assessment rolls, taking 25 per cent of all taxes collected on new property, which he brings to light through his efforts. A petition, with ten signatures, said that "in 1903 his work added $1,000,000 to the county tax list." MacMullen also furnished a form of ordinance employing him, for the council to adopt.

"The supervisors turned him down last year," said Bacaus, "and I consider it an insult to ask us."

Enid Whittlesey Demands Youngman Confess to Her He Has Other Wife

Berkeley Girl Refuses to Believe in Previous Marriage of Music Teacher

Until Ray Youngman comes to her to tell her in so many words that he was a married man when he went with her to the license bureau and that he already had one wife when the justice of the peace made her his second, Enid Whittlesey Youngman intends to stand behind a barrier of disbelief.

To remove this barrier, to open the way for the girl to forget the broken romance and, possibly, to induce her to start legal action against Youngman, the bride's father, mother and brother today are marshaling all the facts and all the evidence to place before her eyes. A conference with Youngman's attorney, Myron Harris, was held last night, and a visit today to Fairfield where Youngman was married to Wife Number One, were planned with the purpose to shake the determined young wife from her position.

RECORDS EXAMINED.

"Nothing came out of the conference," Mrs. Whittlesey said today. "Enid had hoped to confront Youngman and she is determined that she will do so. In the meantime her brother, Harold, is apparently as anxious that the two shall not meet."

As for the marriage at Fairfield, Mrs. Enid Whittlesey Youngman is not disposed to regard it seriously. "If he were married there," she said, "I will contend that it was an illegal marriage and that the ceremony he had performed with me was the legal one."

The girl accompanied her father and brother to Fairfield, where they spent the day looking into the records of the other wedding.

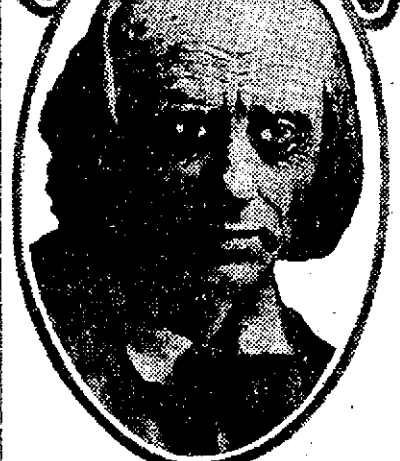

Charles F. Whittlesey, after all of his arguments and those of other members of the family had failed to alter the position of his daughter, said: "After a girl has kept company with a man for five years and has placed every faith in him, it is enough to make her do peculiar things, when she is treated as Enid has been treated."

As for Mrs. Enid Whittlesey Youngman, clinging to the hope that there may yet be a way out, all she would say was:

"Nothing in all the world can make me believe that he is guilty, until he tells me so himself."

Youngman and Mrs. Youngman

She and Father Deny Revolver Was Carried By Latter at Ceremony

No. 1 today declined to discuss the case. At the home on Merrimac street, Mrs. Youngman opened the door a tiny crack and long enough to inform callers that they must see her attorney and that she had no statement to make.

"It will all be settled in the court," she said, "and we are not talking."

GUN PLAY DENIED.

Another thing that will be settled in the court, according to Whittlesey and his daughter, is the matter of the revolver which Youngman charged was used to intimidate him. Whittlesey and the wife No. 2 deny that any weapon figured in the case, while Youngman and the first wife are positive that they saw the bulging outline of one in the man's hip pocket.

"There was no gun," said Whittlesey. "I just demanded to know something and got my answer. If ever a man should have told about a former marriage it was right then. But he kept still. We have learned that he married Miss Vin Haire under the name of Woodruff. He gave the name of Youngman when he obtained the license on Wednesday."

In reply to this, Youngman has said that he was so terrified on Wednesday that he could do no more than obey the father. Convinced that he would be shot if he refused, Youngman says, he went through the ceremony, then rushed home and told wife No. 1. A visit to an attorney's office resulted in the advice to sue for an annulment of the ceremony. The name Woodruff, Youngman says, is his real one and Youngman is the name of a step-father.

SHORTAGE CHARGED.

CINCINNATI, June 24.—William Ley, 40, head paymaster of the automobile division of the Studebaker Corporation of Chicago, was held by the police here on complaint of John C. Hogan, special detective. Hogan claimed Ley's accounts were from $15,000 to $20,000 short.

FIRE SWEEPS LUMBER YARD AT BAY POINT

750,000 Feet, Valued at $25,000, Destroyed; MacDoel Plant Loses $125,000; Sheriff at San Jose Hunts Firebug

MARTINEZ, June 21.—Fire which broke out at 6 o'clock last night in the yards of the Coos Bay Lumber Company, at Bay Point, destroyed 750,000 feet of lumber, valued at $25,000. The flames are believed to have been started by a spark from a tractor used in the yards. Lack of water facilities hampered the fire fighters and for a while the flames threatened 18,000,000 feet of lumber stored at the plant.

One year ago this month fire destroyed $100,000 worth of lumber at the same plant. The flames at that time were thought to be of incendiary origin.

Last night's damage was partially covered by insurance.

HAY DESTROYED.

BRENTWOOD, June 21.—Two stacks of hay, property of the Berry Delivery Company, near here, took fire this morning and were totally destroyed. It is believed the fire started due to spontaneous combustion. There were about 200 tons of hay in the two stacks and work by fire hands prevented any buildings nearby from taking fire.

INCENDIARISM CHARGED.

SAN JOSE, June 21.—Sheriff George Lyle of Santa Clara county is making strenuous search today for a professional firebug, who has been working this week along the Stevens Creek road, west of San Jose. The big barn of C. E. Sheffer, a well-known rancher, was burned to the ground early this morning, the damage amounting to between $15,000 and $18,000. An attempt to set fire to the garage of P. H. Spore, a neighbor, failed.

Summer Session Classes At U. C. May Set Record

BERKELEY, June 21.—All records for summer attendance at the University of California may be broken this year.

Indications that the greatest enrollment in summer courses ever recorded will mark this year's work are announced from the office of Dean Walter Morris Hart of the summer session.

That the total registration in Berkeley will reach 4540 with Los Angeles contributing 1700 students, is the prediction. The previous record enrollment was in the 1915, extension year, of 5394.

At the close of registration, last night 3783 students had enrolled in Berkeley, an increase of 14 1/2 per cent over the same day last year.

Women predominate among summer session students, both here and in Los Angeles. Two-thirds of the students come from California, scattered throughout the country in their places of abode. One student in forty is from foreign lands. Half of them are teachers by profession. Nurses, housewives, college students, engineers, attorneys, policemen, doctors and lawyers are listed.

bor of Sheffer, was frustrated earlier in the evening when the rancher discovered the flames as they were getting under way at a corner of the building. Signs that the fire had been started by an incendiary were visible.

P. Artana, an Italian rancher on the Stevens Creek road, reported that a barn on his ranch was burned Sunday night, the damage amounting to approximately $500.

The Sheffer barn contained a touring automobile, a tractor, a plow and other agricultural implements, together with furnishings for a large house stored there. Two horses and

WIFE'S PLEA WINS RESPITE FOR BURGLAR

Mrs. Carrie Kinnear Comes From Los Angeles in Final Effort to Keep Her Husband From Serving Prison Term

The loyalty of a wife and her impassioned plea for "another chance" for her husband, a confessed burglar, today won at least a respite and possible eventual freedom for Charlie Kinnear.

Mrs. Charles Kinnear, the wife had come from Los Angeles to make a last effort for the liberty of her husband, who had been on parole for a number of years, after being in trouble for a similar offense.

Judge Samuels said he had intended to send the defendant to prison, but would continue the matter for a week for further consideration.

FLAGON MOTTO IS CAST ASIDE BY LOTOS CLUB

NEW YORK, June 21.—Conviviality, long since gone to a watery grave, was mourned last night at a memorial service in the once gay basement of the Lotos Club. Its mourning members, lamenting the loss of the club's motto, took down from above the little bar that no longer functions as a motto of good fellowship. "Stay me with flagons,"

For thirteen years this inscription had been the inspiration of many a group of kindred bowlers. It was called from a song of Solomon's day—"Stay me with flagons, comfort me with apples, for I am sick of love."

With prohibition flagon acquired an empty sound, and the motto taunted the good fellows of the club with pages of retrospect. Last night they put it out of sight. Its passing will be duly recorded in the history of the club by a committee including Irvin S. Cobb, George Ade and Booth Tarkington.

SIXTEEN SLAIN IN CLASH. MADRID, June 21.—The high commissioner of the Spanish zone in Morocco reports a fierce engagement on June 16 between native police, supported by regulars, and rebels. The Spaniards lost sixteen natives killed and forty-one wounded.

Vanilla Has 'Kick'
Makes Boys Wild
KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 21.—Vanilla extract, which should only make its proper appearance in cakes or cookies, is making Kansas University students wild, according to a complaint reaching this city. It is charged that some of the Y. M. C. A. dormitory students have been cutting loose on vanilla extract on their Saturday night parties and that the extract packs a wallop which makes the "kick" of "white mule" seem like a mere caress in comparison. All of this is set forth in a letter received by Fred Robertson, United States district attorney, of Kansas.

and sent by J. H. White, a Y. M. C. A. roomer, at Lawrence, Kan. White alleges that one of the vanilla extract inhalers stole a $1 hat from him during a fanciful orgy and even threatened his life when he lawfully requested that it be returned to him immediately if not sooner.

She Married for Duration of War
CHICAGO, June 21.—A new variety of war romance was revealed here when Harold R. Carter, formerly of the A. E. F., charged Mrs. Margaret Lamar Carter with having married him "for the duration of the war." He sought and obtained a divorce.
The decree was granted when Carter offered in evidence a letter from his wife, which read: "I would have written you long ago, but it seemed right to wait until the war was over and you were safely through that experience. With the end of the war comes the end of the contract I entered into so hastily. I want to be released from it now. I'll not live with you again as your wife."

She Married for Duration of War
CHICAGO, June 21.—A new variety of war romance was revealed here when Harold R. Carter, formerly of the A. E. F., charged Mrs. Margaret Lamar Carter with having married him "for the duration of the war." He sought and obtained a divorce.
The decree was granted when Carter offered in evidence a letter from his wife, which read: "I would have written you long ago, but it seemed right to wait until the war was over and you were safely through that experience. With the end of the war comes the end of the contract I entered into so hastily. I want to be released from it now. I'll not live with you again as your wife."

VANDERLIP PLANS FOR CAMPAIGN OF RUSS EDUCATION

Head of Syndicate Says He Will Go Before People With Articles, Lectures

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

NEW YORK, June 21.—Washington D. C., June 21.—Vanderlip, head of the American syndicate which has secured commercial concessions in Russia, will begin a national campaign of education about Russia when he arrives in this country tomorrow on the liner Olympic. Announcement to this effect was contained in a wireless dispatch received by the International News Service from the promoter today. The message, which was a reply to the query as to Vanderlip's future position, follows: "I intend to go before the real government—the American people—with press articles and lectures. Later I shall go to Washington to talk with members of the administration. I believe that the administration must rise or fall according to its future attitude regarding Europe, and Russia is the crux of the European situation."

CITIES ENGLISH ACTION.

"Secretary of State Hughes and Secretary Hoover are ignorant regarding the truth. They have been misled by former prisoners of the revolutionists and by entente propaganda. The British white book sent to Secretary Hughes should have a black binding with a skull and crossbones. If the contents of this book are true, why did England recognize Russia?"

"Secretary Hughes and Secretary Hoover are always defeated because they are always on the wrong side. I consider victory easy. My biggest job was pushing England over the top. I expect an onslaught of government propaganda from the civil federation and the American Chamber of Commerce, but the more the merrier. I am armed with the truth, with facts they do not possess."

CONCESSIONS SECONDARY.

"The syndicate (American syndicate headed by Vanderlip) is not in this for money. My last instructions from the directors were: 'Put over a big thing—peace and reconstruction; concessions are secondary.'"

"Everything is going according to schedule. The naval bases, the Murmansk pulp wood concessions and the Kamchatka concession are secured for all time."

Before leaving London Vanderlip announced that the soviet government at Moscow had offered the United States two naval bases on the Pacific coast in perpetuity if America to employ MacMullen for anything," said Mayor Davis.

"It might be well to look into this," said Morse.

"Do you want to foist him on the new administration?" asked Davis. "after we got rid of him?"

The motion was tabled.

LETTER BOOSTS WING.

Efficiency Expert Cook, on the Wing counter, asserted that all cities have milk inspection, but declined to make any comments on Wing. A letter was read before the Council stating that "Morse would do well to employ a few more like Wing."

Commissioner Morse asserted that the Wing matter is an "awkward situation" and that "the service he performed was more or less negligible." He said he "doubted that Wing was blameless" for the circulation of the famous Miller letter during the ice-cream war, but wanted to look into it some more. It was referred back to him.

The real session began when the Grant anti-liquor ordinance came up for second reading. In the presence of a large delegation of ministers and churchwomen Dr. George W. Phillips made an impassioned plea that Oakland back up the national law.

"Do you want our police to do what the federal government is doing, chasing bootleggers?" asked Mayor Davis.

Dr. Phillips spoke again at length until finally interrupted by the Mayor's gavel. Dr. J. F. Green then spoke about the ordinance, asserting that its legality will stand, as proved by the courts already.

Commissioner Bacus then asserted that Commissioner Morse, who is now active in getting the prohibition ordinance passed, took no action on January 20, January 25 and February 28, when the matter was referred to him by the Council.

"Did Morse ever make a report?" asked Bacus. "No. He waited till the last week of his administration."

"You have before you the result of my investigation," said Morse.

"If you were sincere you wouldn't bring it up in the last week," countered Bacus.

"I should be the last one to bring up the question of sincerity," said Morse.

Morse produced a report by the Chief of Police, asserting that the inspector and two policemen in the Loyalty Bureau had made 252 arrests from January 1 to June 15, bringing in $75,000 in fines which went to the federal treasury. Morse will open trade relations with Russia. That explained Vanderlip's reference to "naval bases."

asserted that the local ordinance would divert this money, or possibly double the amount, to the city, lowering the tax rate.

"I appeal for your support," said Morse.

"GOODBYE," SAYS DAVIS.

"I haven't read the ordinance," said Mayor Davis. "It should have been brought before me a long time ago."

"It came up for first reading three weeks ago," said Soderberg, "and the Mayor hasn't had time to read it yet."

"Goodbye," snapped the Mayor. "I've suffered with you for three years and now, thank heaven, I'm through."

"Yes, and the reason I'd like to stay in this council is to make you suffer some more," said Soderberg. "I'm still a citizen and I'll keep in touch with your doings, never fear."

"Fourteen thousand majority," countered the Mayor, referring to the recent election. "Bear that in mind."

"Then you've fooled fourteen thousand people. By the way, did the council examine the accounts of the Parr Terminal Company yet?"

"Ask the clerk."

"Then you don't know."

"Keep still."

ACCOUNTING ORDERED.

"We know where we stand," shouted the Mayor. "I also know that the Union Oil Company came to settle in Oakland and you ran 'em out. Only seven days more, Soderberg, and skidoo!"

"I want to know," insisted Soderberg. "It's in the City Clerk's office. Find out."

"I demand an answer."

"There's only one week more of this," said the Mayor, slamming the gavel madly.

"I insist that I have an opportunity to speak," said Soderberg.

The council, in the confusion, passed an appropriation of $1200 to pay the accountant for going over the Parr accounts. Soderberg voted no.

The council accepted the resignation of City Attorney Hagan, set for June 30.

Assets of Alameda County Reported

Alameda county had assets totalling $2,339,753.81, including $2,096,838 cash, on June 1, according to the monthly statement of County Auditor E. P. Garrison, issued today.

The total liabilities, including payrolls and warrants and vouchers payable, were $475,549.12.

SAN JOSE CITY MAY FIGHT GAS COMPANY'S PLAN

Supervisors, However, Will Not Oppose Proposed Rate Increase

SAN JOSE, June 21.—Argument as to whether or not this city should join with other coast cities in fighting the proposed rate increase petitioned for by the Pacific Gas and Electric company, occupied the attention of the city council at its regular session last night. Final action of the council in the matter was to request the city attorney to ascertain what steps are being taken by other cities in the proposed fight and to ascertain how money allowed to carry on the fight is to be expended.

The Santa Clara county board of supervisors, it was stated during the discussion, will take no action in the matter and do not intend to fight the case. It was further held that if this city goes to the expense of carrying on the fight for this district, other cities and towns nearby will be equally benefited but without bearing their just burden of the expense. It was the general sentiment, however, that if it appears that the money will be judiciously handled and with fair prospects of successful opposition to the proposed increase, the city should aid in the matter.

The council waxed humorous early in the evening when it voted 5 to 1 to refer to Councilman Denegri, who was elected on an avowedly "wet" platform, for reading and recommendation a lengthy communication from the California Law and Enforcement league asking that this city adopt a prohibition enforcement ordinance.

Denegri voted no. The letter is one similar to others sent to other cities. San Jose already has its own prohibition enforcement ordinance.

Holding that the thoroughfare will in all probability become an important one with advent into East San Jose of the Western Pacific railroad, the council denied the petition of residents of North Twenty-first street to have that street narrowed from 80 to 60 feet.

The petition of the Raisch Improvement company for authority to grade, pave and otherwise improve Clayton avenue was granted by the council, which also passed a resolution of intention to pave and otherwise improve Colfax street, between First and Orchard streets.

Several permits to operate bus lines out of this city were granted.

POLICE JUDGE DENIES 'GOING LIGHT' ON DRUNKS

City Council of Richmond Takes Up "Rumor" Letter From Mrs. Wilson

RICHMOND, June 21.—The City Council was quizzed last night by Mrs. Clara J. Wilson, president of the Richmond W. C. T. U., and in turn questioned Mrs. Wilson regarding the "rumor" letter which she filed with the Council last Monday night and which was tabled after brief discussion at that time.

Police Judge C. A. Odell, who was quoted in Mrs. Wilson's letter last Monday as having been reported to have remarked "We are handling drunks light now," took the floor early in the discussion. Addressing Mrs. Wilson, he said that whoever told Mrs. Wilson he had made such a remark, falsified. He then demanded to know who gave her such information. Mrs. Wilson named a Mrs. Shumard of the Pullman district as the person who had quoted the alleged statement of the police judge to her.

Judge Odell also asked Mrs. Wilson why she had not come to him with the "rumors" regarding the police court and its handling of drunk cases. He told her the police court dockets were always open to the public and she could determine the exact status of any and all cases before the court at any time.

REFUSAL TO LISTEN.

Mrs. Marie Ogden, city councilwoman, said she would verify the statement of Mrs. Wilson that Mrs. Shumard had quoted Judge Odell as saying "We are handling drunks light now." She said Mrs. Shumard had also come to her with the story, but that she had refused to listen to it, telling her to take the complaint before the Council as a whole.

Judge Odell, after being told who had quoted him as making such a statement, again denied making the remark.

The discussion resolved itself into a review of the entire prohibition enforcement system in Richmond, particularly in reference to the licensing of soft drink establishments.

Mayor James N. Long asked Mrs. Wilson to explain a statement in the letter of a week ago in which she charged that the City Council had granted a soft drink permit to a man who had previously had his place closed by the federal authorities.

Mrs. Wilson said the place referred to was that of Paddy Boyce.

but upon questioning, was unable to affirm the statement that the place had actually been closed by order of federal authorities. It was stated the place had been closed, but through bankruptcy and not through federal order. The fact that the place had previously been raided had nothing to do with the closing, it was stated.

CITIES ANOTHER CASE.

Another case cited by Mrs. Wilson last night was that of Charles Trinks of the Pullman hotel, who was fined $100 by Judge Odell after pleading guilty to having liquor in his possession about three months ago. She wanted to know why the Council had not revoked Trinks' license. The Council as a whole denied having any knowledge of the payment of the fine, and when the records of the police court were brought before the body it developed that the police court had not had any mention of or introduced as testimony.

mony when Trinks and others were cited to appear before the Council some time ago and show cause for not having their licenses revoked. The evidence submitted at that time had been held insufficient to cause the licenses to be permanently revoked. How Madge Prepared Lella to Face Rita Brown.

I knew that I should have no further trouble with her, but a task of far greater magnitude lay before me—that of changing Lella's belief in Rita's falsehoods to a realization of the treachery of the girl she had known so long.

I had seen how stubborn my usually yielding little friend could be. Suppose—as was wholly probable—she should refuse to believe Rita's retraction, what should I do?

I found Lella sitting in bed, the bed-clothes huddled around her, her eyes swollen with weeping, her face pale and strained with weeping.

A gust of such anger as the heartless Lella in the forest outside swept me so fiercely that I was glad she was not within my reach.

I would not have felt answerable for my hands if her sneering face had been near me just then.

"Oh, Madge!" Lella wailed, "I can't bear it! I can't!"

I went up to her, took her twisting hands in mine, holding them firmly.

"You don't need to bear it," I said soothingly. "Suppose I should tell you I had found out that everything you had heard was a base falsehood?"

She looked up at me with startled eyes into which a flash of hope had come. Then it died as soon as it was born, and she succeeded by the old stubborn look with which she had met my first suggestion that Alfred was guilty of the things Rita Brown had said about him.

"But that couldn't be," Madge said with finality that meant she was long to shake her into common sense. "Rita wouldn't lie!"

"No?" I drawled. "Well, as it happens my dear, that's just exactly what Rita did! Why, your little goose, don't you know that Rita is in love with Alfred herself?"

"Not now, she isn't," Lella retorted. "I think she used to be, but now—haven't you seen—she's mad—about—about—Mad Grantland."

There was a hesitation in her voice that made me suddenly curious.

"Most as if she thought Rita Brown's infatuation for Hugh Grantland might matter to me. I spoke hurriedly—lily—in reply.

SUGGESTION IN LELLA'S WORDS.

"Of course she is—mad about his wealth and power. She means to marry him if she can, but what there is of the thing she calls her heart, belongs to Alfred; and she cannot bear to see you marry him."

She swung herself to the side of the bed, putting her slender stockinged feet upon the floor.

"Oh, if I could only believe that!" she exclaimed. "Then her face darkens and reddens, and she says—

"I can't. Forgive me, Madge, but I am afraid."

That curious hesitancy, I almost forgot, that I found in a furious demand as to what she meant, but fortunately closed my lips in time.

I opened them, however, in another second, when I saw that my mad, my stubborn little friend

RITA SHOWS HER COLORS.

"Lella! You don't deserve happiness, but I'm going to give it to you, nevertheless. That is—

"I am—divinely happy, and I mean to act like a stubborn little mule. Rita Brown is downstairs in a taxi. When she comes in here she will tell you that everything she said was true."

She looked at me with a look of life forever. I have given her my word not to tell you why she does this, but I can tell you this much, that she is utterly unworthy of the name of friend, or of your confidence. Don't give her one single passing regret. To think that you doubted Alfred on her word!

"Now let me bathe your face and make you a little more presentable. I told her you had a headache, but I am unwilling to have her see how much she has made you suffer."

She can't believe it! Rita can't believe it! She murmured the words over and over, dazedly, as I bathed her face, plaited her hair and wound a towel around her head.

As I tucked the covers around her I surveyed her with satisfaction.

"Now you look more like a headache and less like a heartache," I said. "And don't ever dare to tell me that you are anything but a little more presentable."

I left her to think that over while I went to summon Rita Brown. That worthy sullenly followed me to the door of Lella's room. There I turned and faced her.

"You have done your devil work so well," I said measuredly. "that it is going to be a hard task to convince Lella you were lying. I leave that to your own ingenuity, only remember that it must be thoroughly performed before you leave this room."

"Say, don't you think you've talked enough?" she snarled. "Lord! I don't wonder the Dickybird's drunk from under if he has to listen to that crack all the time. Now, I'm not a clear fool. I know when I'm against it, and it stands to reason I'm going to do this job right. But I'll be—

The COUNTRY of UPSIDE DOWN

By Jack Burroughs

Chapter III.

On the Ceiling of the World.

WHEN the cage carrying Alex and Reddy reached the bottom of the lake it dropped on through just as Reddy had said it would.

"The elevator is turning bottom-side up," cried Alex.

And so it was. It turned completely over so that the top hung downward and the floor was where the ceiling should have been.

Alex seized Reddy by the tail feathers and held on for dear life. But there was no need of this, for both he and Reddy remained just where they were.

The cage had stopped falling and began sliding to one side, scraping and bumping as though it were going over the solid ground. But the strange part of it was that, although the cage was bottom-side up now, it was the bottom, and not the top, that was next to the earth.

"Why, the ground must be over us instead of under us, Reddy!" Alex cried.

"Certainly," replied Reddy. "Didn't I tell you we were coming to the country of Upside Down?"

Sure enough, when they opened the cage and stepped out, their heads were hanging down, and the ground and the sky seemed to have changed places.

"Give me my glasses, quick!" Reddy ordered. "I must recover my e-qui-lib-ri-um."

He pronounced the word importantly, as ducks always do when they use words of more than four syllables.

"Must you put on your glasses to look for it?" asked Alex, in doubt as to what Reddy was talking about.

"Quack, quack!" laughed Reddy heartily, turning his head so far on one side that the cap tumbled off. "E-qui-lib-ri-um means balance. I have to wear my upside down spectacles to keep my balance well."

When Reddy's cap tumbled off Alex naturally expected to find it down into the sky, but he noticed

"When you're walking on the ceiling of the world you will find it quite a topsy-turvy place. Where your head is hanging down, and the autumn leaves of brown fall up to where the trees throw their shadows there."

The birds fly deeply downward when they soar to where the clouds' white banners are unfurled. So it's he, he, he, keep your head and mind your step when you're strolling on the ceiling of the world!"

Letters of a Chicago Policeman to His Brother Charley in Which Fred A. Gross Lays Down Some Sane Observations About Living.

Chicago, April 14.

DEAR CHARLEY: The house is pretty near finished Charley. It looks fine & worth all the trouble & Grace come out with me to see it.

I've got it so everything's all right but my troubles isn't over yet & here's the latest. The village of Allison has ordered us to put in a new cement sidewalk & we got to have it side walk up to the yard up to the house as well as a long the st.

It's going to cost a even $200. Well that's pretty bad but that ain't nothing. I asked a man a bout going grass seeds & fixing up the yard & he says it must got to be graded 1st. I says what do you mean graded 1st? He says it's all up and down & the ground round the house is lower all ready than the ground out by the st. I says it was in my contract for the contractor to grade the lot but he didn't do it so I got an other man to grade it for $120. He says well then you got stung for $120 because they hasn't been no grading did that I said yes. I argued with him a bout it but he says he wouldn't so no grass seeds or have anything to do with it un less it was graded & he said he would grade it but black dirt on it so as the grass would grow & all so put in a drive way of cement & gravel all for $200.

well Charley they wasn't nothing for me to do but hire him & did you ever here any thing like it.

The gas has been ran in to the house from the st. & the stove should be there any day now & the house is all wired for electric lts. & all that part of it is o k & the only thing there doing now is fixing up the floors with polish & when that's done we'll be all set & I takes time to do that & I wish it was all over because wear sick of boring to say nothing of paying for the hard & paying the carpenter all the time. I still got the finished hard ware to pay for & that's $140 & when the 1 of July comes they'll be $120 into to pay so you see I got some thing to worry me Charley & I got John E. Rockefeller would be worrying to if he was me.

F. A. Gross.

p s I put $140 in the bank to pay for the finished hard ware all ready but some way the architeacks cousin got balled up & give some body some thing they didn't have coming & the man at the bank refused to pay the order for the finished hard ware & I went down to see why not & he says all the money was drawn out all ready & I wasn't nothing left I don't under stand it but I quit trying to under stand a bout this house.

I'm happy, happy, happy. It bubbles up all day. No past regret nor future fears Can take my joy away.

I live a moment at a time And live that moment right, And so my life is happy And not a weary fight.

Now, M. E. M., my advice to you is to come out of your dark cell of self, into the bright sunshine

Some mighty fine letters on the subject of Married Women Working are coming in. Here is one of them. What do you think of this subject, Pal? Let's hear about it.

Dear Jerry—After reading the Sunday TRIBUNE, I have yielded to the temptation to break into your discussion on Work and Money. I am a married woman, married nearly 20 years, have worked in the business world the greater part of that period, and so I, of course, can only see one answer to the question. A woman has a right to choose her own occupation. But I truly believe that the home woman is much happier.

However, a job should never be made an excuse for any woman to take her life in her own hands, and refuse to rear children. Let her employ a maid and a nurse also, if necessary, and continue her outside employment, if it is so very necessary for her happiness. I do not approve of a woman holding down two jobs, taking care of the home and cooking, and also working outside. I have seen the folly of such a course, where he had and certainly ruin her health, for she is burning the candle at both ends. A man is not expected to come home and do the housework after spending eight hours at the office, and neither should a woman.

I once applied for a very good position. The employer called me Miss and all seemed favorable for me, but not wishing to grieve him, I said "I am Mrs.," but I hope you do not object to employing married women?" He then asked me this question: "Do you employ a maid to do your home work?" I had to admit that I did it all myself. He replied, "No woman can hold down two jobs, and give her best efforts to either."

It is needless to say, I did not secure the position, but I secured knowledge of much greater value and I made different plans for the future.

BEST WISHES.

About Shoplifting

Dr. Elizabeth Houston offers the following interesting letter in response to the appeal from "Shop-lifter" for help. Her remarks are along the line of all advanced work in criminal psychology, which takes cognizance not only of the actual crime, but of the mental and physical "line up" of the victim and his ancestors.

Dear Geraldine—May I send a few words on the interesting case of a Shoplifter in your valuable section in THE TRIBUNE. Viewed in the light of our three best sciences—Psychology, Physiology or Science of Mind, Physiology or Science of Organic Structure, and Phrenology Science of Mind Action on Brain, this line of thought clearly cuts into these cases.

Now for the proof. The Brain is the Organ of the Mind—and carries Thoughts, Ideas, through its gray matter, from the cerebellum to the Mind. If the Brain Convulsion of a faculty is very large many more thoughts are sent through it. Size is a measure of the faculty. One who has a large Mind is a large Mind. (Convulsion of the Mind is Economy. Its voice says, Save, Hoard, Hide, Covet. When this Faculty is large and Conscientiousness—love of right—is small, then the mind is a large mind. It has the right of way. Every thing seen is coveted and the irresistible desire "Shoplifter" talks about, says "I'll take it!"

When we have the Theft, the Shoplifter, and all the miserable results of dishonesty in every form from bank defaulter to petty thief.

Brain Psychology explains this condition scientifically and has been proven too often to doubt the result.

To say a thief is "sick" proves nothing. In fact, thieves are mighty lively people and move swiftly, indicating good health of muscle and brain. Psychology alone has not struck the key note in the study of crime. Yet, we need the correct analysis of brain and mind and temperament and heredity, to read the character correctly, to train weak faculties up, and to train too large faculties down so we may make ourselves well balanced and useful.

How to Stay Young

Oh Mother Mack! I'm grateful to you for the following letter. It's so badly needed by every one of us, and the good news of your victory is going to help us all carry out our lives with the fog of our own discouragements. Read, Pal—and HERE'S TO LITTLE MOTHER MACK, YOUNG AT SIXTY-FOUR! GOD BLESS HER AND MAKE HER SMILE EVERLASTING.

Dear Jerry—The letter in last night's TRIBUNE signed M. E. M. interested me very much. She wonders "she is the only one like that." No, M. E. M., here's another. As you are I have been. I, too, have let retrospection rob me of vim, and make me "pale."

Not my own ill doing but that of another did I brood over, but it had the same effect. That old bluffer, Self Pity, most got me for sure here. I still got the feeling of an old fraud he is. But I have, as our Jerry advises, snapped out of it. No longer do I carry around with me the skeleton of the dead past and shake it up and down. I rattle. ALL DEAD THINGS OUGHT TO BE BURIED.

I am a young lady of sixty-four years. Yes, "young." I was an old maid at thirty-four. I was "tired of everything," but I woke up to the fact that I was not living in a dead past but in a beautiful, glorious all alive NOW.

I'm happy, happy, happy. It bubbles up all day. No past regret nor future fears Can take my joy away.

I live a moment at a time And live that moment right, And so my life is happy And not a weary fight.

Now, M. E. M., my advice to you is to come out of your dark cell of self, into the bright sunshine

Listen, World!

Honest now, did I ever cast a lie upon the waters without have blamed things returning to you looking like a Sea Serpent? Of course, if you've never lied you will not care for this article and you've privileged to pass me by with averted nose. But I'll admit I have lied. It wasn't nice, but at the time it seemed very convenient. These few plaintive words are for those who share my unfortunate ideas of convenience.

Yes, you tell your lie, die lie and all looks rosy. You think you're no end clever and you wonder why the old moss-backs patter that stuff about honesty being the best policy. Perhaps it may be for the common herd, but for you—YOU! can get by with a lie—but can you?

So you go off and forget it and the TRIBUNE, THE LIE, COME BACK! But what has happened to it? It started out a simple, playful, little thing—and now it has horns and a scaly hide! It spreads dress is very out of place and undignified; between the ankles and shoe tops is a good length for matured women.

As to powder—when properly used adds to the personal appearance, but like little else, it is overdone. Just a touch of powder over a shiny skin always adds to the personal appearance, providing that it is put on smooth and with judgment.

I powder, but not to excess; my dress is a respectable length. Girls seem to lose judgment as to what to wear and then and where to wear it. For instance, I saw a young lady there wearing a dress beaded from neck to hem, about $75 worth, and of course, it was the free market the proper place to wear it? I keep my best for Sunday or rare occasions. I wear my shopping dress and hat when I go shopping, and I do not smoke, drink nor swear, and I have no wings. But dear sisters, it is just as easy to be good, and do right, and dress properly, as it is to be wrong, common and look like a freak.

JUST A SISTER.

Women and Women

Comes now a regular "Uppercut" straight from a masculine shoulder on the chest of the Modern Woman. It's a sizzler, Pal, and true for certain types—but remember there are all sorts of types.

Dear Akadam—Oakland should be proud and happy in the thought that it has such a womanly woman as you. Would that we had more such. I think they would bring our women back into the fold.

You are doing more to instill that womanliness in our girls than all the laws and reformers ever accomplish in a thousand years.

I have the dearest, darling mother and six sisters that breathe. They are all up-to-date, but thank goodness they're taken that womanliness in the highest degree. Women are losing sight of the fact that in their "weakness" is their strength. As Sir Wallace aptly said: "The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world."

The so-called modern woman claims she wants to come up to man's level. In reality, she is coming down to it, for women are the refining influence of our lives. They inspire men to greater and loftier deeds—through her, all good things have been accomplished.

Before I married (which has been three years ago) I had the greatest reverence for all women. But since I have learned to discriminate, as my mother would say, I have lost some of that reverence that doesn't want any children, etc. Needless to say I am very disappointed, but I've not taken any vigorous steps, but some day I'll fly off the handle.

That woman has the most power in the home (a thousand fold) who has faith in her husband and recognizes him as the leader and her protector; for her he would move heaven and earth, if only to satisfy her faith. Her strength, as Warwick was greater than kings for he made kings, and they did his bidding.

"As the brook, I could run on forever," but will close, happy to know that your work will eventually be felt the world over, for it is a problem of every country, especially these good-old U. S. A.

With all good luck to you and keep up the good work.

Very respectfully,
AN ADMIRER.

Broken-Hearted. You have not asked me any question, my dear, so how can I answer you? Love can survive years and the few miles between here and Los Angeles, but I have a much mother is right. Love is the breath of life at seventeen, but it isn't usually constant.

OLD MAID. Nonsense. If anyone could be more up-to-date than I (my own word) than you are, I'd like to hear you don't care what the girls tell you, fourteen is a grand and glorious age to be safely tucked in at night. Won't a few parties at home help? I don't think mother would object to it, little gatherings and maybe the old phonograph can be cranked up, the rugs removed and a dance indulged in. Try her.

HELEN. In spite of what you say, I think I would write. Ask him if being just friends won't help. Swat-harts have a habit of quarreling over nothing at all, but friendship might help him. Try it.

BLUE EYES. What are you trying to do to Jerry, kid her? Well, you can't get away with it. You can't possibly be as silly as you sound, so don't expect me to believe it of you.

Feibles of Men

I knew those Charlie Chaplins would come in for it sooner or later and here we have it now. However, if the Charlies are obnoxious, sister, think how it must have felt to have been wooed by one of those Weeping Willows which our Grandpas adopted.

Dear Jerry: Your column is most certainly good for thought, if people will but consider it wisely and sensibly. While some letters may wound critical there is sound sense and good lessons in most every one of them. There is much said about dress reform, both in women and men, but no one has seemed to dare down the hideous Chaplin mustaches which are a disfigurement to any man who owns one. I would sooner come into contact with one of the deadly kissing bugs than to allow one of them germ breeders to dab me under the nose.

Now, as to short skirts. There are extremes in all things. Stockings, not too thin, and dresses not too short or narrow are sensible for misses and medium aged women. But for older women, say about forty-five and up, a short garden of all life, and dig in and get busy doing something for the future and blows fire through its nose. It makes such a racket that everyone turns and looks and you're left alone with the Parent of a Lie. Fine—!!!

No, this isn't a flight of fancy, as you'll know if you have lied. Just as your good deeds will grow and tower beside you, so will the evil you do wax apace. As a waker nothing can compete with a lie. In its tender infancy it may seem convenient, but presently it will become the greatest nuisance of the city pound. For which uncomfortable reason, BE HONEST.

—An! I only wish I had had all these noble thoughts before I told that last lie of mine.

Did I ever cast a lie upon the waters?

There's no stay-at-home vote among the women. Don't hate 'em part with your wages. They won't go very far.

GARDENING

My neighbor has a garden fair and all the beds are neat and trim. But he has hired a stranger's hand to come and do the work for him. He walks among his shrubs and vines and proudly he admires them there. But he would come to know the flowers must give a garden constant care.

My patch of ground is not so large but I know every rose by name. And I have watched the peonies grow since first the pink shoots upward came. No stranger's hands have raked my beds and jostled these few plants of mine. For I have nurtured every shoot and guarded every trailing vine.

My neighbor has a garden fair and all his beds are neat and trim. But all the blossoms that are there are merely pretty flowers to him: He never knows the fight for life a struggling little rose makes. But I get more than blossoms gay, for I know every flower that's there.

UNCLE WIGGILY AND GRANDPA CROAKER.

Once upon a time the Fox, the Wolf and the Skittery Scallery Alligator met together in the woods and began to talk of how they might catch Uncle Wiggily.

"We have tried all sorts of plans," growled the Wolf, "but somehow or other, Uncle Wiggily always gets away. I think if I could catch him, I might catch him."

"I believe if I could get on top of his bungalow roof and slip down the chimney, I might catch him," barked the Fox.

"You are both wrong," gurgled the Skittery Scallery Alligator. "We should all three start out together and travel alone until we meet Uncle Wiggily. Then, by all rushing to him at once and grabbing him, we'll have him."

Western railroads have expressed work on computations and engineering to eastern power companies for information, according to O. C. McQuay, executive secretary of the Federal Power Commission, in a statement to Senator Samuel M. Shortridge, quoted by the Bureau of Economic Warfare headquarters in the War Relocation Authority Building, San Francisco.

This announcement follows one from Chicago recently stating that freight rates from the West to the East probably would be reduced, and it has started a government inquiry as to how the rates could be brought down still lower by reducing the operating expenses of the carriers.

Another effect of electrification, that would bring about lower rates, would be that 30 per cent of the traffic on both coal and oil burning roads would be used in carrying fuel for their locomotives, he asserted.

Electricity generated by government experts on railroad electrification, says, according to Merrill's report, Senator Overbridge, that the Milwaukee over its electric line and the New York Central, at a top speed, thus effecting a saving of 50 per cent.

Merrill told the Senator, "I have seen reports that he believes that the railroads would find it cheaper to erect their own power plants than to buy the energy from central power companies already in operation."

Western senators are making a study of the electric situation because of the vast electric possibilities in the west because of the oil situation. More than 70 per cent of the wharves in California are driven by power, according to Sacramento figures. The fuel oil used, 37 per cent by railroads.

WORK PUT UNDER WAY UPON NEW MARKET HOUSE

Another addition, the first in many months, is to be made to the Oakland commission market at once. Workmen today began raising the old house which adjoins the market stalls at the southwest corner of Fourth and Franklin streets. When the structure is removed it will be replaced by a modern market building. The property is owned by members of the firm of A. Leon & Co., which now is housed across Franklin street from the corner to be improved.

The explanation offered by market men is that the "cots" now offered are early fruit from the sections which naturally were not affected by the frost and blights which damaged apricots in the more open regions.

As soon as these early deliveries are moved, it is expected that the market will take on a much stronger tone. In the Hayward apricot orchards it is reported the yield will be not more than 40 per cent normal. Santa Clara valley trees also show the effects of an adverse season.

Many growers are now picking and putting out fruit to dry.

Deliveries of all bushberries today, including a large quantity of strawberries, amounted to about 525 baskets. Under the augmented delivery with cheaper melons offered in quantity, the price of strawberries fell back to the old minimum of 50 cents stipulated by the association. The top for fancy berries again was only 75 cents.

Blackberries and logan berries are abundant at a central market is drawing but the price of currants is holding up strongly.

LITTLE DEMAND
FOR FARM LABOR
REPORTED HEREFree Employment Bureau
Shows Few Calls and No Applicants

While jobless New York is leaving the city by the hundreds every day for the rural communities, according to Miss Monica Barry Walsh, director of the American Land Service in that city, the movement is not duplicated here. Mrs. Helen Power, director of the State Free Employment Bureau in Oakland, said.

Not only have no special calls for workers been filed from the rural communities, but workers themselves are not asking to be placed in local positions, she said.

On the other hand there are no applications for such places except as an occasional couple ask for a rural berth.

Two hundred men left New York for the rural districts yesterday, according to Miss Walsh, who is the authority for the report that last week witnessed the departure of 740, reducing the record of the week before from 1130. Starvation wages and nights on park benches have prompted the exodus, the service director comments. She asserts there are 488,000 unemployed men in New York. Lack of proper nourishment is causing many deaths, she says.

"The bureau sent 1300 farmettes out last year to pick fruit," Miss Walsh reviews. "Our total this year has been 30. We will send no more until the jobless have found places."

Lack of funds is hampering the work of the department in sending out the force of unemployed into the country, according to the eastern director. The park benches could be cleared within a few months under a proper financial system Miss Walsh declares.

Hail, King Mike!
HIS MAJESTY MICHAEL,
the first king of the island of Moorea, South Pacific, dons his royal robes and crown to come to America.

For Twenty Years Has Ruled
Over 2000 South Pacific Islanders

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—His majesty, Michael I, king of the enchanted island of Moorea, South Pacific, was a passenger aboard the Union steamship Tahiti when that vessel steamed into port. His royal highness had donned his scepter and crown and was traveling under his baptismal name of Michael Fogel, but his identity was betrayed by scores of the other passengers, who were familiar with the romantic history of the California boy who has for twenty years ruled the 2000 natives of the mystic isle, officially owned by France.

More than a hundred members of the local musicians' union greeted the arrival of the Tahiti and King Michael, because, although the former San Francisco boy is now a king, his friends have not forgotten that he was at one time one of them and owes his present exalted position to "Officially neither France nor the local government at Tahiti can recognize me as king, but technically and to all practical purposes I am the actual ruler of Moorea," said the interesting tale about which Stevenson and Frederick O'Brien have woven so many interesting tales. "I went there twenty years ago and since that time the permanent white population has not varied more than three persons."

"I do not know to what I owe my popularity with the natives, but for some reason they always liked me and they persisted in making me their king when my predecessor died. At it is a glorious life at this time I would not leave the islands and return here permanently for any sort of a fortune that could be offered me."

"I will come here for a short visit with my brother, Max Fogel, and will then return to my kingdom and my official queen. A king may possess a harem down there, but not for mine."

LABOR OFFICIAL
BEGINS PROBE OF
BUILDING TIE-UPW. H. Urney to Investigate Bay Situation and Report to Washington

Representing the interest of the government to see that building operations are resumed in the counties about the bay, William H. Urney, commissioner of conciliation for the department of labor, today started what is to be a full investigation of the situation. A report containing his findings will be filed with the department of labor at Washington.

The appointment of Urney followed a long and complicated communication sent to Washington by P. H. McCarthy, president of the State Building Trades Council, in which it was stated that the controversy was harkening building operations, that the Building Trades Council had agreed upon all the terms as set down by the arbitration council, and that the employers' exchange has announced a policy of American plan, not in accordance with the arbitration board findings. Urney was formerly secretary and treasurer of the San Francisco Building Trades Council.

According to Urney, the interest of the government lies solely in seeing that building operations are resumed and that an understanding is reached between the opposing factions. He has announced that until the investigation is complete he will not discuss the situation. Through W. H. George, the Building Trades exchange has said that it did not propose the investigation and that there is nothing for the exchange to say at this time. George asserted that more men are being put to work each day under the American plan and that building is rapidly being resumed. A similar report as to the increased force of men at work was given out today by the Building Trades Council, where it is said the work is being done under the union plan.

The appointment of Urney will result in a conference of laborers and promises to bring about a settlement, according to San Donahue of the local Building Trades Council. Donahue says that in the event the local situation will be completed by the union men within a few days. Donahue estimates that 50 per cent of the work in Oakland has been resumed.

No Parole for Crimes of Violence, Urges Detective

Denying the assertions of many county officials, police officers and politicians that reports of last winter's so-called crime wave throughout the country, particularly on the Pacific coast, were exaggerated, and that the felonies committed were not out of the ordinary in violence and number, Captain Detective Matheson of the San Francisco Police Department, speaking to members of the Kiwanis Club at their meeting yesterday on "The Police Problem in the United States," definitely declared that during last winter the country was in the throes of one of the worst crime carnivals in history and that accounts of the hundreds of murders, assaults, brutal holdups and burglaries had not been elaborated in the slightest extent.

"Furthermore," stated Captain Matheson, "this crime wave was not caused by ex-convicts or by the unemployed. Any claims that this carnival of lawlessness was brought about by boys discharged from our army or navy or by men who could not find work, are just as wrong as 'sit-up' men, as they are known to the police, or to midnight burglars. The holdup man is a potential murderer. There is not one who would not shoot and shoot to kill to get away and often with the least provocation they slug their victim. The only reason the majority do not kill is because their victim doesn't make it necessary. The midnight burglar—the man who enters your home in the dead of night and who is the terror of men, women and children—is also a killer. He will shoot in a moment if he is discovered. These men should not be given probation or parole. Thousands of crooks are picked up all over the country each day to have it found out that they are on probation. In some cases probation is right and in others it is terribly wrong.

"Extinction of the bootlegger is another thing needed and which is being done. The midnight burglar went into effect there were many good and honest saloonkeepers. These men immediately closed down their establishments and went into other business and are today probably making more money than they were in the 'wet days,' but the others—the crooks—are now in the bootlegging business. We want to exterminate this breed.

"Another thing that I am in favor of is making prisoners in county jails and penitentiaries work. These men should be put to work and not for a vacation. Why should the county and state be forced to take care of these men while they are lying around idle? Don't make your penitentiaries and jails summer resorts.

"Politics—the bane of every police department—is responsible for a good share of the inefficiency in these branches. I am in favor of life appointments for court judges. Then no man would be compelled to go out and seek office, thereby incurring obligations which he necessarily must be filled when he goes into office."

Captain Matheson closed his address with a plea for the co-operation of citizens with police departments. These departments, he said, must be conducted as any business and efficiency must be the keynote. He said that he believed men should be appointed or promoted through civil service examination and not from friendship.

Cecil Hitchcock, head of the Hitchcock Patrol Agency, introduced the speaker and acted as temporary chairman at the meeting.

ROCKRIDGE AND PERALTA SCHOOL
CONTRACTS LETDirectors Campbell and Young
Exchange Amenities Over
Supt. Hunter.

After accepting bids for various portions of school construction work, aggregating more than $145,000, the Board of Education last night accepted the resignations of several school janitors and custodians, and transferred others, at the request of Business Manager Lloyd Barzee. The changes are subject to approval by the civil service board.

Because of the extra length of the vacation this year, vacancies in the position of assistant custodians of the high schools will not be filled this summer. The resignations and changes in custodians will affect Millrose Heights school, Technical high school, Washington, Vocational, Clatsop, Bay, Hawthorne, Fruitvale and Fremont high schools.

The transfers were nearly all promotions to take the places of custodians who have resigned. The contracts approved by the board, subject to review by the district attorney, were for portions of Rockridge school, aggregating $70,000, and Peralta school, aggregating $77,116.

Director Fred Campbell attacked the management of the school department, asserting that the budget committee has been slow in making up its figures, and criticizing Superintendent of Schools Fred M. Hunter for being away on vacation at this time.

"If Hunter happened to go away after hours of night work," retorted Director Young, "he was entitled to it. I do not see where Campbell has any right to criticize. I've never seen Campbell at a budget committee meeting yet."

"A man getting his salary should attend to business," retorted Campbell.

"He does," said Young.

The board will meet Wednesday evening as a committee of the whole to consider further construction matters.

Curfew Shall—No,
It Cannot Ring

PETALUMA, June 21.—The old curfew bell which occupied a site in the city hall yard for more than 40 years, has been removed. The tower in which it was suspended showed signs of weakening and was considered dangerous, so the City Council ordered its removal. At present the city, to the delight of the youngsters, is without a curfew.

British Home of Washington Is Again Dedicated

(By Associated Press)

NORTHAMPTON, June 21.—Salgrave Manor, home of the Washingtons, was rededicated here with elaborate ceremonies after its restoration at a cost of $50,000 to the state in which it existed three centuries ago.

The Marquis of Cambridge, brother of Queen Mary, and George Harvey, United States Ambassador, made the principal addresses, asserting the fundamental solidarity of the peoples of the empire and the republic, and declaring the day's event an augury for the future.

The Prince of Wales planned to be present, but was detained. He extended an invitation, however, to the delegation to call on him tomorrow at St. James Palace, London, to give him an opportunity to express his personal interest in the enterprise. Today's exercises were arranged by the Salgrave Institution, organized to foster friendship between Great Britain and the United States. The exercises began with short services in the Salgrave parish church, where lie buried Laurence Washington, forebear of George Washington, Mrs. Washington and their eleven children. John A. Stewart, president of the American branch of the Salgrave Institution, presented a bronze bust of Washington to the manor on behalf of American donors. Letters from Calvin Coolidge, vice-president of the United States; Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Samuel Compans, president of the American Federation of Labor; Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, and other Americans were read.

The couple were interrupted when a man climbed into the automobile and sat in the rear seat. He had a white handkerchief over his face and a revolver in his hand. "Drive away from the rest of these machines," the bandit said to Brown. When Brown explained to him that he would have to get out and crank the motor he told him to sit still. The bandit then ordered the couple to hand over their valuables. Miss Moody gave the hold-up man a ring and Brown parted with $5 in cash.

The bandit then instructed the couple not to make any noise until he had got out of sight. Brown resides at 83 Garland avenue and Miss Moody, 293 Twenty-third street.

The police believe that the bandit's partner was acting as a lookout. Jack Vegovich, 1230 Campbell street, was the second victim to report to the police that he was held up. He was in front of his home when two men in both wearing white handkerchiefs over their face and armed, told him to put up his hands. While one of the men covered him with his revolver the other went through his pockets. The men took $5 from Vegovich.

Turk Not So Bad, Says Oakland Doctor

Dr. George Pomeroy, Near East relief worker, has returned to California and is registered at the Hotel Oakland. Several times during his mission overseas he was reported captured and killed. The Oakland doctor declares the Turk is not so bad as he is described.

"They have a regard for Americans," Dr. Pomeroy says. "They would not object to this country stepping in to settle their disputes in Asia Minor."

The returned war worker sees in a complete separation of the church and state the cause of the present difficulties. Inefficiency of the people in taking care of their government, which differs in the various communities, is a characteristic of the Turk, according to Dr. Pomeroy. Because Greece desires Turkish territory is the occasion for the opposition of the Turk, he declares. Dr. Pomeroy was stationed at San Srd, on the Black Sea.
